High Finance Is Cheerful
Politicians Are Busy
Is Trotzky Dead?
The Last Chapter

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1925, by Star Co.

GENTLEMEN that fix Wall Street's "barometer of prosperity" felt better about their barometer yesterday.

More than seven hundred corporations had sent out dividend cheques. The cheques had flowed into out-of-town banks, as brooks flowing to rivers, and from the "country banks," as high finance condescendingly calls them, the dividends had gone to big New York banks, as rivers flow to the ocean.

"Call money," with which stock gambling is done, dropped to 4½ per cent., and men that sometimes know said as though they really believed it:

"The slump is over and the boom is coming back."

THE TROUBLE is that those optimists know only sometimes, and you can never be sure when they mean what they say. Anyhow, high finance chose to seem cheerful, and little people, who feed the ticker minotaur with their savings, were encouraged, and some "increased their commitments."

THEN THERE WAS the reported purchase of Dodge Brothers Motor Company by Dillon, Read & Co., after an alleged desperate struggle with Morgan & Co. as to which should get the prize. This purchase shows that there is some money left, for the Dodge concern must have cost more than 100 millions. Such a deal shows that somebody has confidence in the future.

The deal is most interesting as proof that there is opportunity for ability and honesty in this country. The Dodge brothers, typical American builders, had both qualities, and in a few years built up a concern that would be dirt cheap at 200 millions.

POLITICIANS, like big financiers, are busy, and planning.

With Mr. Coolidge only just settled in his seat, at least 50 Republican candidates for 1923 are solemnly deciding that Coolidge cannot run again, "because that would be a third term and would annoy George Washington."

President Coolidge has been elected only once and another term would be his second, but the would-be candidates try to forget that.

DEMOCRATS are working hard and prematurely hopefully, as though they had never heard of the last two pluralities of seven millions each against them.

Judge Olvany, who succeeds Mr. Murphy as head of Tammany Hall, discovers that Governor Smith is the natural Presidential candidate for the next time, and points out that with only a minority in the Legislature he has beaten the Republican majority to a jelly.

Judge Olvany evidently does not agree with the learned Will Rogers, in a recent speech, With the Governor, the judge and all the high men of Tammany listening, he said that Governor Smith's chief handicap in his candidacy would be Tammany Hall.

Tammany or no Tammany, the ablest politicians believe that Al Smith will be the next Democratic candidate, and that he has the best chance of getting real votes.

Meanwhile, friends of Lochinvar McAdoo have sent out from the West a call for a McAdoo supporters' conference, on April 13, too; at Kansas City.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, chief murdered by order of his enemy, Al Smith supporter, had just asked for complete party harmony, and McAdoo throws a tomahawk at him.

Calvin Coolidge is said to be sleeping well through all this.

LONDON HEARS from Moscow that Trotzky is dead, Zinovieff. Another report says Trotzky has fled from his villa in the Caucasus, where he took refuge from his enemies.

If the Czar looks down or up, as the earth whirls round, and sees Lenin's body lying, em-

TWO SHOT, ONE DEAD IN CHASE OF LIQUOR BOAT ON N. E. COAST

New London, Ct., April 2.—Karl Gustafson, thirty-three, chief boatswain's mate on the coast guard patrol boat CG-237, was shot and mortally wounded early this morning at the wheel of the seventy-five-footer as she started out in pursuit of a suspected rum-runner, three miles south of Race Rock Light.

Henry M. Carlson, motor machinist's mate, of Philadelphia, asleep in his bunk below decks, narrowly escaped the same fate when another bullet tore through the side of the patrol boat and grazed his abdomen, causing a deep flesh wound.

The chase, which had only just begun, was abandoned when Gustafson fell and the patrol boat made for the municipal wharf here, where the victim was put ashore and rushed to the Lawrence Hospital, where he died four hours later. Although fully conscious to the last, Gustafson never knew the course of the fatal bullet.

Coast guard authorities say they have no clues to the vessel which fired the shots which peppered the port side of the vessel.

Coast guard headquarters at Washington was notified following the arrival of the patrol boat here. In the meantime, Lieutenant-Command-

FIFTY NEAR DEATH IN NEWPORT FIRE

Newport, R. I., April 2.—Fifty men and women, trapped by flames, made their way down a pependicular fire escape to safety when fire swept the Realty Building in Washington square, the heart of the city.

Three firemen were overcome by smoke and a fourth was cut about the face and arms during the blaze, which caused damage estimated at $10,000.

Among the offices damaged was that of City Solicitor J. J. Sullivan, who has been handling the city's business in the Realty Building since the fire in City Hall a week ago.

The fifty men and women were attending a card party given by the women's auxiliary of the Machinists' Union of Newport on the third floor.

The party was suddenly broken up when clouds of black smoke oozed through the floor. The men in the

UNSKILLED HELP TO VOTE ON STRIKE

The 5,000 unskilled laborers employed in building operations in Boston held th ecenter of the stage in the building strike situation today.

Nobody pretends to know whether they will join the 950 skilled workers now on strike, or accept the old wage under a new three-year agreement with the contractors.

Hod carriers and others of these laborers will hold meetings during the next few days, culminating in a big meeting next Wednesday.

They are getting from 65 to 70 cents an hour, and want from 80 to 90 cents.

A strike of laborers, at this stage, would be far more significant, according to the contractors, than the strike of electricians, plumbers and lathers.

Most of the big building operations are in the excavation stage,

RESTAURANT FIRE DRIVES OUT PATRONS

One hundred hungry men and women wer compelled to abandon their noonday lunches in A[illegible] restaurant, No. 173 Washington street, today when fire was discovered in the basement and smoke came billowing up to the street floor.

Pouring into the strets, they helped to swell a crowd of onlookers that soon threatened a serious traffic jam.

Moutned police and patrolmen from stations 1 and 2 wer dispatched to the scene and after brisk work restored order.

Although the damage was not great—not more than $10,000—the fire was a difficult one to combat and the men of Rescue Company No. 1, Ladder 8 and Engine 4 were obliged to don gas masks to get at the basement, which is without a passable rear entrance.

The fire was discovered at exa[illegible]

65 MILLIONS MUST BE PAID BY B. & M

A plan to reorganize the financial structure of the Boston & Maine Railroad Company by which it is hoped "foreclosure and receivership" will be avoided, has been announced by the general readjustment committee of the road.

The necessity for such reorganization is pointed out in a statement issued by the readjustment committee and approved by the board of directors.

Within the next five years, the statement says, the road must raise more than $65,000,000 to retire bonds falling due. It is also estimated that between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000 should be spent annually, during the same period, for improvements and extensions. The statement points out that under the present financial policy of the road it will be difficult to raise such sums.

A committee of representative savings banks, insurance companies and investment banking houses also

He said the improvement was slight.

BANDIT OFFERS OWN ALIBI AS DEFENSE IN SKELLY DEATH CASE

Hartford, April 2.—Gerald Chapman, bandit prince, on trial for his life, denied on the witness stand today that he murdered Patrolman James J. Skelly or any other man, or that he burglarized the Davidson & Leventhal department store in New Britain on October 12.

Chapman candidly admitted that he was a criminal, had served time and had escaped in March, 1923, from Atlanta where he was serving a twenty-five-year sentence.

But he emphatically denied any complicity with Shean in the New Britain safe looting and murder, or that he had ever been in Meriden where Shean and attaches of the old Colony Inn placed him the night before the murder.

Chapman admitted ownership of the nickle-plated 38 calibre Smith and Wesson revolver, the one that State firearms experts claimed fired the bullet that killed Policeman Skelly.

He admitted that he shot a postman in Muncie, Ind., with this weapon when arrested last January, [illegible] explained that he had $1,700 on him and that when the officer, in civilian attire, poked a gun against his heart he mistook him for a "stick-up" man and fired, but not to kill.

PLANNED BIG RUM PLOT.

The accused admitted ownership of certain implements in the kit of burglar's tools offered as State exhibits, but denied others.

He declared that he and "Dutch" Anderson, posing as "Dr. Johnson," who escaped from Atlanta seven months after he did, without his assistance, had gone to Springfield to arrange with Walter E. Shean for organization of rum-smuggling on a huge scale.

Boston was to have been the "port of entry" and the distributing depot was to have been the old colonial mansion in South Hadley Center, skirting Mt. Holyoke College, which he and Anderson had bought from the Rev. A. W. Bailey, a Congregational minister, with with pastorate in Pawtucket, R. I.

The smuggled whiskey supplies were to be stored in the former minister's home because of its dignified reputation and excellent location.

Chapman explained that he and Anderson had been identified with big whiskey smugglers in Bermuda, but had to shift their base of operations to some suitable ports northward when the lid was boosted in Bermuda, "causing, as the defendant explained it to the jury," a lineup that did not make it worth while the further chance or adventure of the game.

BOTH SIDES REST CASE.

Chapman left the witness stand after being questioned for one hour and thirty minutes. The defense and state then both rested.

Arguments were to begin this afternoon.

The sophisticated [illegible] pale and more haggard and showing the strain of eight days of trial, walked to the stand as erect as a soldier. He sat upright in the witness box. He faced the jurors in a friendly sort of way. For a minute suppressed emotion showed in his feeble voice, but after a request by Judge Jennings to speak louder, he found his confidence and talked with the diction and choice language of a gentleman.

Judge Groehl's direct examination of Chapman was brief.

LILLIAN GISH WINS; DUELL NOW ACCUSED

New York, April 2.—Questioning the sanity of Charles H. Duell, film producer, and holding him in $10,000 bail for perjury in testimony and affidavits, Federal Judge Mack today dismissed Duell's action against Lillian Gish, screen star, to restrain her from acting under any management but his own.

In addition Judge Mack said he would institute proceedings to have Holland Duell, brother and counsel for Duell, disbarred from all State and Federal courts.

"Never in 22 years of judicial experience," said Judge Mack, "have I had before a case of such flagrant misuse of justice as has been shown in this. With the possible exception of one case, I have heard no other case wherein there was more perjury in connection with both affidavits for preliminary injunctions and the testimony offered to the court."

Bail for Duell was fixed at $10,000 but Judge Mack later released him in the custody of his counsel and brother, Holland S. Duell.

Duell was undergoing cross-examination when the trial was halted. The trial began on March 23.

HURLED BY BOMB, CLOTHES BLOWN OFF

Stamford, Ct., April 2.—Explosion of aerial fireworks bombs in sheds used in their manufacture shook the Springdale section of this city today.

Michael Luturra, a partner in the bomb making concern, was blown from a shed at the initial explosion, and when picked up forty feet away was without clothing except for a single shoe.

The hospital doctors say he was singed by flame from head to foot. After the first explosion two adjoining sheds went up but two others were unharmed.

and laborers, not electricians are needed, they say.

Leaders of the strikers were inclined to laugh this afternoon at the complaint forwarded to the State Commission on the Necessaries of Life by the United Building Trades Employers' Association.

RIDICULE CLAIM.

Spokesmen for the strikers said the claim that the strike would increase rents was ridiculous, because "not more than 5 per cent. of the Building Trades Employers' Association builders were building homes; most of them were in bigger busi-

The contention of the United Building Trades Employers' Association is that the hundreds out and the thousands threatening to go out, are indirectly working for higher rents.

John F. Walsh, secretary of the association, at work drafting the petition today, said that he was serious about it, and would urge that it be given grave consideration.

At the headquarters of the striking crafts the leaders of the men declared it was all propaganda.

There was little change in the strike situation today.

STRIKE FIGURES.

Revised figures placed the numbers on strike at nearer 950 than 1,150. Of these, according to the strike leaders, 600 were plumbers, 250 were lathers and seventy-five were electricians.

In the ranks of the electrical workers, the situation was not clearly defined. Only seventy-five union electricians are out, but every union electrician in the city will be ordered off the job unless individual employers agree to arbitrate the wage question, according to the Building Trades Council officers.

The same officers said that no more crafts would sign up with the building contractors while the plumbers, lathers and and electricians remained on strike.

In spite of which, the sheet metal workers continued their conversations with the wage committees of the Employers' Association, relative to their own workers.

So far as the men actually out were concerned, there were the usual contradictory statements today.

Some of the union chiefs said that individual plumbing contractors were weakening and giving the 15 cents an hour wage asked.

"Not a plumber has gone back to work at the increased wage in any shop affiliated with the Building Trades Employers' Association," countered the officers of the latter organization.

Important meetings of strikers, other union men who may become strikers and the master builders were in progress about the city today.

A largely attended meeting of the general contractors of the city was held at the City Club.

Independents as well as members of the Building Trades Employers' Association were represented. The meeting went on record in favor of standing by the association for a three-year renewal of the 1924 agreement at the existing wage.

Secretary Walsh said the contractors were a unit in their determination to keep work moving and beat the strike.

party rushed to the stairway, the only interior exit, to find it had been cut off by the flames.

They marshalled the women to the rear of the building to a perpendicular fire escape, which all descended safely. Several of the women fainted after reaching the ground.

The fire apparently started in the meter room near the stairway on the second floor, and had gained considerable headway before being discovered. Fire Chief Lawton sounded a second alarm, and the blaze was extinguished after two hours' work. Offices and stores on the first and second floors of the building were damaged by water, while the third floor suffered from the flames.

er George A. Wilcox, commander of the destroyed Downes, temporarily in charge of the section base here during the absence of Commander W. H. Munter, who is in Washington, had a board of investigation in session.

The CG 237, commanded by Boatswain John M. Gray of New Bedford, sailed last night for regular patrol duty. During the night she had been scouring the waters in the Race.

Suddenly over the bow of the patrol boat was sighted a shadow some distance ahead. The form was evidently that of a vessel of some sort although it could not be definitely identified. Immediately the patrol boat, which had been lying idle with lights out, gave chase.

Scarcely had the vessel got under way when a volley of shots came from the southward, and in rapid succession poured like rain onto the port side of the hull. Before any opportunity to retaliate was offered Gustafson, who manned the wheel while Boatswain Gray stood beside him in the pilot house, fell.

At about the same time, Carlson, motor machinists' mate, who was off watch and sleeping in his bunk on the port side below, came out of his quarters displaying a flesh wound in the abdomen.

$65,000,000 B. & M. DEBT TO BE PAID

Road Expects Reorganization Plan to Be Accepted by Stockholders

has approved the plan, it is announced, and support of the reorganization by a majority of the bonds, preferred and common stock in the hands of the public, is said to be assured.

"Taken in connection with the plan for abandonment of certain unprofitable branch lines," the committee's statement says, "this plan should enable the railroad to properly perform its public duties and to earn and pay a suitable return upon its outstanding securities."

The principal provisions of the plan are:

The extension for fifteen years of $42,787,000 of general mortgage bonds, with interest unchanged until the present due dates, and at 5 per cent. thereafter, the bonds being those issues maturing between 1925 and 1932 inclusive, which are not held by the Federal government.

EXPECT U. S. CONCESSIONS.

The raising of $13,000,000 of new money by an issue of 7 per cent. prior preference stock, to be offered primarily to existing stockholders of all clases in specified proportions and conditions, the dividends to be cumulative, with voting power share for share with all other classes, and priority both as to dividends and assets over all other classes.

Concessions expected from the Federal government on the $48,685,479 6 per cent. bonds which holds, all but $10,894,000 of which become due in the eight-year period mentioned.

The plan provides that the outstanding first preferred stock, classes A to E, shall be consolidated proportionately into one issue of 7 per cent. preferred stock, with continued preferential dividends, and preference also as to assets which they do not now enojy. The present preferred stock will receive common stock, with provision that those subscribing to the new prior preference stock shall receive 15 per cent. more than their present holdings.

The outstanding common stock will receive new common stock, share for share, with the condition that those who fail to subscribe to the new prior preference stock shall receive less stock than those who do subscribe. This principle is applied to each class of stock, common and preferred, in varying degree.

The general readjustment committee, in its statement accompanying the plan, says that notwithstanding the fact that all classes of the road's security holders, "are represented on the committee itself, it has conferred at length with other persons representative of the various classes, and has given due weight to all suggestions so received. The committee earnestly believes that as a result of all these conferences and suggestions, and all this assistance, the plan as finally revised and now made public is fair to all persons in interest."

The committee, which developed the revised plan after several months of deliberation and conferences, includes in its membership representatives of the board of directors of the railroad, and of all classes of security holders from various parts of New England.

RETIREMENT PLANS.

Emphasizing the need for prompt consent, the statement says "the plan cannot succeed unless it is consented to by a large proportion of the stockholders and bondholders." The statement adds: "It is hoped that both foreclosure and receivership may be avoided, but each is a possibility, either as a step hostile to the plan or as a necessary means of carrying it out, and the best way of escaping such an event would be to have the security holders approve the plan promptly in large numbers."

In its details, the plan establishes a relation between the bonds extended and the prior preference stock through provision that the bonds, which will be at 5 per cent. interest after the present due dates, may be converted at par into this 7 per cent. cumulative stock, after January 1, 1930, and before January 1, 1940. This conversion is limited to $7,500,000 a year for the first four years, but thereafter is unlimited. The bonds are subject to call after the first-named date at 102 and accrued interest; and prior preference stock is subject to call as a whole, but not in part, after the same date, at $110 per share and accrued dividends.

WOOD REJECTS REAL ESTATE JOBS ON TAMPA

Tampa, Fla., April 2.—Osborne C. Wood, son of Governor-General Wood of the Philippines, will remain in Tampa several days.

Wood, who arrived aboard the Shipping Board vessel West Chetac, also indicated, however, that his stay would not be permanent and declared he would not accept positions offered by local real estate firms.

Town Is Sinking Foot a Day As Hills Cave In

Brookhaven, Miss., April 2.—Thousands are visiting Union Church, a nearby village, where the earth is cracking and sinking in an area a quarter of a mile long.

Some of the cracks are said to be bottomless; parts of the strip have sunk fifteen feet. The earth is dropping a foot a day.

One theory is that years ago aborigines dug underground chambers beneath the hills now caving in.

FIRE EMPTIES RESTAURANT OF PATRONS

12 o'clock by Louis Martin, the manager.

Closing the door leading to the basement, he advised his patrons to make an orderly but speedy exit. The lunch crowd filed out quietly enough with but few exceptions.

Martin was assisted in marshalling his patrons and their belongings to the door by Misses Mary McCarthy and Ella Greene, cashiers.

It was Miss Greene's first day on the job, so she reported at 11:55 instead of 12 o'clock noon, the hour she was supposed to go to work, and had just taken control of the checks when Martin gave the alarm.

NO PANIC.

The restaurant is in one of the busiest sections of downtown Boston, and while the police wer able to keep the traffic in the streets moving, the sidewalks were congested for nearly an hour.

For many it was the first sight of the grim-looking gas masks worn by the fire fighters, and for all it provided a thrill far beyond its importance just as a fire.

Occupants of the offices and stores on three upper floors of the building left their desks for the street after the alarm was given, but there was no panic, as the smoke in the upper corridors was not dense.

Most of the $100,000 damage was to the restaurant proper and the basement, and it was almost entirely a smoke damage.

The tile of the restaurant was destroyed and all the foodstuffs in storage ruined.

LOST SPAGHETTI.

Miss Sadie Goldstein of No. 4 Kimball road, Chelsea, one of the few women in the restaurant, was indignant when she got out at what she termed the lack of chivalry on the part of the men.

Miss Goldstein had just ordered spaghetti when the alarm was given. She said the men made no attempt to assist the women to the street, but seemed in the main intent on getting by the cashier's cage without paying their checks.

Her indignation was heightened by the fact that she didn't get her spaghetti.

5 HORSES GET REPRIEVE FROM EXECUTION

Portsmouth, N. H., Citizens Say They Will Give Navy Pets Good Homes

Portsmouth, N. H., April 2.—With their graves dug and headstones to mark their last resting place ordered, Ned, aged eighteen; Dick, eleven; Pat, fifteen; Harry, fifteen and Kitty, sixteen, who were to have been shot at the Portsmouth Navy Yard because the Navy had no further use for them, have been granted a stay of execution until Monday, their reprieve coming as the result of efforts of civilian employes in their behalf.

Ned, Dick, Harry, Pat and Kitty, faithful servants at the naval station for years, are horses. They are the friends and pets of virtually every man, woman and child at the yard. They were saved from facing the firing squad by the civilians who have driven them for years, the men telling Captain Douglas E. Dismukes, commandant at the yard, they would guarantee to have them placed in care of the New Hampshire S. P. C. A. or find good homes for them elsewhere. Fred A. Eastman, a shipwright at the yard, was spokesman for the drivers, who assert that the horses are extremely lovable in their nature and "almost human" in their intelligence.

Twenty naval prisoners had already dug the graves intended for the animals when the drivers intervened. A regular funeral, with full naval honors, was planned for them and their graves were to have been marked with headstones purchased by the Government.

The horses were not ordered shot because of old age or other disability, but simply because they were no longer needed at the yard. Motor vehicles have made their usefulness a thing of the past. And it has always been the policy of the Navy Department to dispose of horses by shooting instead of selling them.

There is a possibility the horses may be given a home at the University of New Hampshire at Durham.

Unless they are sent there or are given homes elsewhere, next Monday their death sentences will be carried out.

SUN YAT-SEN'S 'LENINE FUNERAL' UNFULFILLED

Peking, April 2 (A.P.).—The last wish of Dr. Sun Yat-Sen, first president of the Chinese republic, that he be buried in a bronze crystal coffin "like my friend Lenine," went unfulfilled today. The bronze casket long awaited from Moscow, arrived and proved to be a shoddy affair, unsuitable, and was rejected. Today Dr. Sun's body lies in the western hills of Peking, nine miles from the city, in celestial Piyuenssu Temple. It will be removed later to Nanking. The funeral ceremony was a throwback to Manchu customs.

MISSING BOY BELIEVED SLAIN, POLICE SAY

New York, April 2.—Continuing efforts to find three-year-old Raimonds Von Maluski, whose disappearance Sunday has led to fears that he was murdered, a score of detectives made an exhaustive but fruitless search of the premises at No. 61 Third avenue. In a rooming house at this address lived Mary Jones, who, with three men, is under arrest as a suspected kidnaper.

Walls and floors of every room were gone over carefully.

balmed, in state, and Trotzky murdered and thrown in some ditch, he probably concludes that everything comes out all right.

THE KILLING of Trotzky, of which there is no proof, would be in accordance with revolutionary precedent. In the big French upheaval Danton passed under the guillotine blade, first of the great leaders, then Robespierre, who had ordered Danton's execution, then came Marat, killed by a woman, and then Napoleon, who showed the world how to kill on a really big scale.

When will the Russian Napoleon appear, and complete the revolutionary turnover?

YOUNG MEN that perhaps envied and admired young Wood, son of General Wood, when he was gambling and winning in Wall Street, and envied and wondered more, as they read the usual lies about his tremendous gambling profits in Europe, should not miss the last chapter of the story.

It came with young Wood's return to this country, in reply to a reporter's question.

"Yes," said Wood, "I made it in speculation, but what a jackass I was to go and lose it all." That's the kind of jackass that gambling usually produces. Take warning against stocks, horse races, cards or get-rich-quick schemes.

THE BIRTH CONTROL conference declares, after a week's discussion, that "persons whose progeny gives promise of being of decided value should be encouraged to have large families."

That's sound enough, but how are you going to select the "persons" whose children will be worth while? How would you have picked out the unmarried peasant girl that was Leonardo da Vinci's mother, or the tanner's daughter that became mother of William the Conqueror, before she was married?

The one reliable sign of desirable "progeny" is the desire of a woman to have children, and her willingness to take care of them.

"If women don't want children, the wisest thing is not to have them, and the same with men, only more so."

THERE IS a new little war cloud in Europe. Poland and Russia agreed to exchange political prisoners, Russians for Poles. On their way to the Polish frontier two of the Russian prisoners, prominent Bolshevists, were murdered by Polish police, and Russia objects.

There is talk of Russia killing her Polish hostages. But that probably won't happen. War could happen, however, and France would be in it immediately, by agreement with Poland.

What, in that case, would this country do? It's a question important to our profiteering patriots of the late war. It's several years since they had a real chance to show their patriotism on a "cost plus" basis.

ELDER SENTENCED FOR THREATS

ELDER IS GAY, SAYS STAGE GIRL

WEDDING IN RICH FAMILY LAVISH

Edith Gould Tells How She Got Stage Fright as Maid of Honor for Sister

By EDITH GOULD WAINWRIGHT.

Chapter X.

DETAILS of the weddings of Marjorie to Anthony J. Drexel, Jr., and of Vivien to Lord Decies have been printed time and again. The public has been informed fully as to the trousseaux of the girls, the treasures in presents presented to them, the bridal parties and the honeymoons. What I wish to tell you about now is how these gala events affected one young miss who had a part in them and who was more concerned about how she would act as flower girl for Marjorie and later maid-of-honor for Vivien.

I shall never forget how excited I was the day mamma told me I was to be in Marjorie's bridal party. Excitement reached a high pitch that day, but naturally it had been simmering pretty lively ever since it became known that Marjorie was to be married. It was, you see, the first wedding among the seven Gould children.

Great Preparations

Mamma herself took my appointment with much seriousness, whether feigned or genuine, it is impossible to say. It may have been, of course, that the formality with which she announced the honor to me was somewhat accentuated for the purpose of impressing me with the great privilege accorded me. This was to be my first appearance in public and mamma wanted to be certain that I would acquit myself with glory.

At the same time she told me that the other flower girl was to be Ellen Mackay, daughter of Mr. Clarence Mackay. On receiving the news I rushed in great glee all over the house, informing not only the other members of the family, who already knew it, but the servants as well. My excursion took me even into the kitchen to which mamma always denied the children entry.

Of the preparations for the wedding—a time of great confusion in most households—I remember only that for days before the ceremony,

Long or Short? Which Has Best Mind?

Chicago, April 2.—Dr. W. H. Sheldon, University of Chicago psychologist, will undertake to answer the question whether a man with long legs and red hair has more brains than a short-legged blonde man.

Professor Naccarati, of Columbia University, advanced the theory that as a rule long legged men had the greatest brain capacity.

Scientific trends tend to support the theory, Dr. Sheldon said today. He will measure 400 men at the University of Chicago as "anthropological indices" who also will be graded for mental capacity, and the physical and mental indices compared.

$100,000 SUIT FOR HEART BALM IS REOPENED

The $100.00 alienation of affections suit brought by Mrs. Kathryn Buchanan Reynolds of Cambridge, against Mrs. Frances Lewis Reynolds, formerly of Sherborn, former and present wife respectively of Lyman H. Reynolds, which was dropped some time ago, was reopened today.

The new proceedings, forecast by an attachment for $100,000 on the property of the newest Mrs. Reynolds, were started as a result of additional evidence being obtained by Attorney Percy A. Guthrie. The suit will be brought in the Middlesex County Court, where the original proceedings were instituted last January.

In her first suit, Mrs. Kathryn Reynolds claimed that the present Mrs. Reynolds, then Miss Frances Lewis of Sherborn, alienated the affections of her husband when he was recovering at a hospital from disabilities received in the war.

Mr. Reynolds and his present wife are said to be living on her property at Sebec, Maine.

WIFE DEFENDS LLOYD GEORGE'S PEARL GIFT

London, April 2.—British political circles chuckled today over the way in which Dame Margaret Lloyd George rose in defence of her husband when the Laborite newspaper, the Daily Herald, commented upon the fact she had lost a string of pearls and wondered how she got them. In a letter to the Daily Herald Dame Margaret said:

"My necklace was not worth one-fiftieth of the gift made to your leader when he was Prime Minister by one of his capitalist friends. Most of my pearls were given to me by my husband from his earnings as a journalist. Is it a crime for him to earn high fees by writing?"

CHARLESTOWN PASTOR DIES OF HEART DISEASE

The Rev. Charles Talmage, pastor of the First Congregational Church of Charlesetown for eleven years, died suddenly today at his home, No. 72 High street.

In apparently good health, the minister was seized with a heart attack and died a short time later. He had held pastorates in Taunton, Auburndale, Dorcheseter and Michigan.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ella Talmage.

MORMON ELDER IS GUILTY

Year's Sentence on Thompson Is Revoked on Actress' Plea for Leniency

Orval L. Thompson, Mormon evangelist, in East Cambridge District Court today pleaded guilty to attempting to extort money by threats from Mrs. Margaret Fisher, Roxbury actress.

Orval L. Thompson, Mormon Evangelist, in East Cambridge district court today pleaded guilty to attempting to extort money by threats from Mrs. Margaret Fisher, Roxbury actress.

His counsel, Attorney Robert W. Nason, asked Judge Stone for leniency, which was refused, but later, following a plea by Mrs. Fisher, revoked a sentence of one year he had imposed, and held Thompson for the grand jury.

Following Thompson's pleas, Attorney Nason asked for a light sentence on the ground that the man has a wife and four children, and that the complainant had not appeared.

"He is a man of intelligence," said Judge Stone, "who by continued threats of bodily injury tried to extort $150 from a woman. I can't overlook that," and he thereupon sentenced Thompson to one year in the House of Correction, the defendant agreeing to accept the sentence.

After the case had been disposed of, and while Thompson was awaiting transportation to the House of Correction, Mrs. Fisher appeared in court and was summoned to the bench.

REVOKES SENTENCE.

Followed a low-voiced conference during which the woman urged Judge Stone to deal lightly with Thompson. As a result the court bestirred himself in the case again, and discovered he had no jurisdiction. He then revoked the sentence and announced he would hold Thompson for the Grand Jury.

Elder Thompson's arraignment followed his arrest after he had received a decoy letter at the Cambridge postoffice, addressed to R. H. Randall.

The preacher is accused of sending blackmail letters to Mrs. Margaret Fisher, who is a chorus girl.

"I've known him for two years," said the actress, "and during that time I have regarded him as something of a gay dog.

"He would stage gay parties for us chorus girls when we played in Boston, but I never attributed the Blank Hand letters I received to him."

FATAL LETTER.

The letter which brought about the preacher's arrest and which he is said to have confessed to writing follows:

"Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 26, 1925.

"Dear Mrs. Fischer:

"We thought that it would be wise to write you again about the $150.

"Now, we do not wish to cause you any trouble. We certainly must trouble you if you do not send it.

"We have a very fine plan worked out whereby you will not be able to escape us and the best way for you to get out of this affair is to send along the money.

"Buy two money orders, one for $100 and another for $50. Make them payable to R. H. Randall at the Cambridge postoffice.

"If you do this we will send you more business, and if you don't we will make you some serious trouble. It's up to you.

(Signed) "Two of the Boys."

"P. S.—We will wait no longer than March 8, and in the meantime you will be watched until the money is sent to us."

A week ago came this message to the actress, written on a postal card above the signature, "R. H. Randall".

BELIEVED TO SET RECORD

Total Purchase Price of Business Is a Little Under $175,000,000

New York, April 2.—Purchase of Dodge Bros. Inc., automobile manufacturers, for slightly less than $175,000,000 in cash by a banking syndicate headed by Dillon, Read & Co., involves the payment of at least $50,000,000, and possibly more, for the good will of the organization, it was disclosed today.

This is believed to be the largest sum that such an item has ever commanded in a cash transaction.

Good will in its generally accepted definition in the financial community is described "as a consistent record of earnings over a large period of years derived from a large number of customers.

While no definite formula exists for the computation of this item whose real value is dependent upon a number of factors, it has been estimated as high as ten times the average annual earnings over a period of years. Dodge Bros.' earnings last year are estimated at close to $20,000,000.

General Motors Corporation, in its last annual report, carried "good will and patents" at $22,414,317.

F. W. Woolworth Company, under teh original capitalization plan, carries "good will" at $50,000,000 which was scaled down to $10,000,000 last year, although the equity in the stock has constantly increased. The capital stock, which is carried at $65,000,00, in the balance sheet is actually worth over $300,000,000 at current market prices, the difference in a measure representing good will.

The Nash Motors Company does not carry any good will item in its balance sheet. Common stock is carried at $1,602,000, but its market value is actually in excess of $81,000,000, which gives an indication of the value of the company's good will.

Dodge Company to Run as "Independent"

Detroit, April 2 (I.N.S.)—Purchase contracts under which control of Dodge Brothers, second largest automobile plant in the world, passes to the Wall Street banking House of Dillon, Read & Co., are being drawn today.

The name of the new owner is not yet made known.

The cash price is put at between $110,000,000 and $125,000,000. The name of the new management is not yet announced.

This announcement, made this morning by A. C. Schwartz of Dillon, Read & Co., was confirmed by John Ballantyne, treasurer of Dodge Brothers.

The statement declares that no mergers or consolidations are contemplated and that Dodge Brothers will operate as an independent concern.

The negotiations were handled for the two Mrs. Dodges and their children by John F. Ballantyne and Charles P. Spicer. The former is treasurer of Dodge Brothers and trustee of Horace Dodge's estate. Beside the widow there are Horace E. Dodge, a shipbuilder, and Mrs. Delphine Dodge Cromwell, wife of James H. R. Cromwell of Philadelphia, affiliated with the noted Eastern banking house of E. T. Stotesbury & Co.

Spicer is vice-president of the Detroit Trust Company and a cotrustee, with the widow, of the John F. Dodge estate. There are two daughters, Mrs. Wesson Seyburn (Winifred Dodge), and Isabel Dodge. John D. Dodge is a son by his father's first marriage.

Henry Ford today denied that he had any interest in the sale, although he said that two years ago the chance to buy the Dodge plant was offered him.

Visited P. O. and Landed on U.S. Jury

For the first time in many moons there was a dearth of jurors in the Federal Courts today. United States marshals were sent down the postoffice corridors to fill the panels.

Five men were seized while transacting postal business at the windows. They were:

William C. Cram of No. 161 George street, Medford; Thomas Hayes of No. 24 Jefferson avenue, Everett; Alexis R. Elcock of No. 236 Copeland street, Quincy; Richard H. Cutcliffe of No. 51 Faxon street, East Boston, and Henry H. Hourus of No. 184 Highland avenue, Medford.

The three first named were immediately placed on a panel to try James M. Lee, charged with transporting liquor in a motorboat.

HOUSE TO PASS TIPSY AUTO DRIVER BILL

The six year limitation amendment to the drunken driver bill, tacked on by the Senate, will be accepted by the House and rushed through its final enactment stages to the Governor for his signature, House leaders, it became known today, have agreed to the change.

One of the chief objections to the bill when it passed the lower branch was the absence of a limitation. As the bill stood originally, a judge would have been required to send an operator to jail on a second conviction, even if the first offense occurred as far back as ten or fifteen years.

The bill as amended makes a jail sentence mandatory only in the event that the second conviction takes place within six years following the first offence.

The bill carries with it an emergency preamble which makes it effective immediately upon being signed by the Governor. Lacking this preamble, the law would not become operative until ninety days.

CHAPMAN AND SHEAN PLANNED BIG RUM-RUNNING PLOT IN HUB

SUPER-BANDIT BACKS UP HIS ALIBI AT DEATH TRIAL

you Chapman? A.—Yes.

Q.—How did you happen to meet him? A.—I went to him with "Dutch" Anderson, who was going under the name of Dr. Johnson.

Q.—What did you go to see Shean for? A.—About liquor arrangements.

Q.—Were you with Walter Shean on October 11 or 12? A.—No.

Q.—Chapman, were you in Davidson & Leventhal's store on October 12, 1924? A.—I was not.

Q.—Were you ever in New Britain? A.—Only to pass through in an automobile possibly, but never to stop there in my life.

CALM ON STAND.

Q.—And have you been convicted of crime? A.—Yes, four times.

Chapman's voice was so low at first that Judge Jennings had to urge him to talk louder. Immediately his tone was raised, revealing a voice peculiarly rich and rounded. It had a soothing quality. It reflected wonderful poise under the circumstances.

Chapman used the English of a gentleman.

Q.—How long have you known George H. (Dutch) Anderson? A.—Some years.

Q.—And you both met and associated with Walter E. Shean of Springfield? A.—Yes.

The direct examination lasted just two minutes.

State's Attorney Alcorn then began the cross-examination. Under this Chapman declared that he and Dutch Anderson were planning, with Shean, to conduct a big rum-running traffic with Boston as the "port of entry."

Chapman said the old colonial mansion bought from the Rev. A. W. Bailey, a Congregational minister in South Hadley, near Mount Holyoke College, was to be the liquor storehouse and distribution depot.

Chapman admitted that the nitroglycerine found in the Lincoln car had been brought by him to Springfield for Walter Shean.

"Shean had been persistently calling for nitro-glycerine while we were West," he said. "It is difficult to get it in the East."

SEEKS TO TELL TRUTH.

Pressed as to the ownership of the stolen Lincoln car found near the murder scene in New Britain, Chapman thrilled spectators with an impromptu lecture to State's Attorney Alcorn.

Alcorn had asked, "Was that your car?"

Chapman replied: "It was our car. I don't know whether you seek the truth in this case or only the apparent truth, but if you seek the truth I'll give it to you. That car, the Lincoln car, was bought by Dutch Anderson. It was a stolen car. We knew that, but I did not steal that car."

Q.—Then Miss Bourne of Steubenville was mistaken? A.—She was, and I could tell how and why if permitted. I would have bought the car if I had been there. If you want me to explain the ownership of the car, I shall do so?

Q.—But it was registered in your name, "Waldo W. Miller," wasn't it? A.—Yes, but names meant nothing to us.

Q—I suppose you fellows changed them like collars? A—Yes. Names do not matter to men of our type. I had no bill of sale and had to lie.

Q—But it was registered in your name? A—No, you mean I signed the name Waldo W. Miller, because I happened to be the fellow asked to do this, but I was not Miller any more than Dutch Anderson, or anybody who happened to have the car. It was agreed that whoever took the car to a garage or to have it repaired was to call himself "Miller."

DENIES OWNING GUN.

Q—Isn't this your brief case? A—No, it is not and if you had asked me I could have told you it belonged to Dutch Anderson.

Q—Isn't this your electric drill that you had in Muncie, Indiana? A—No, the drill we had at Muncie is still there, held by the police.

Prosecutor Alcorn next asked as to his past record. He referred to his mail truck robbery in New York on January 15, 1921.

"I don't care to get into a controversy as to that incident," Chapman said. "I infer you know all about that affair."

Q—Did you pull a gun and fire a shot in Muncie, Ind., when you were arrested. A—A man stuck a revolver against my heart without warning. He didn't tell me he was an officer.

Q—Did you pull the gun on the officer and afterward say he was a damn fool? A—I wouldn't be so foolish.

Q—Did you ship any goods from the West to Shean? A—A few bags.

Alcorn asked Chapman if one of the exhibited weapons was his.

"No; a great many guns look alike," snapped Chapman.

Q—Is it yours? It was found in your property. A—You must remember there were others with me in Springfield, Chapman answered.

BACKS UP HIS ALIBI.

Q—You weren't in New Britain on October 12? A—No. I was not.

Q—You let Shean take your car? A—No. I did not.

The witness then described his movements on the day preceding the crime. He said he left Holyoke at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, returned to Springfield, where he changed from a gray suit he was wearing. He said he then went to New York.

Questioned again about the guns found in his possession, Chapman said:

"I can explain that. Anderson and I were engaged in whiskey smuggling from Bermuda.

"It is common knowledge how vessels bearing 3,000 or 4,000 cases of whiskey are held up outside the twelve-mile limit by pirates and robbed, and so are trucks bearing liquor. Our trucks running out of Baltimore were held up. As this traffic is not protected by law there is no relief or legal redress. It simply becomes a matter of personal protection.

"So truck drivers were armed and cars were sent trailing them with armed men for protection. That accounts for the guns in these bags."

Groehl took over his witness again for a few minutes.

Q.—Were many of your associates friends of Walter Shean? Chapman recited a number of pisturesque names.

Q.—Is the custom in the underworld to have nicknames? A.—The rule rather than the exception.

Q.—Have you been charged with crimes that were never proved against you? A.—Five, aside from this crime.

Q.—Who shipped this property to Shean? Chapman named some men, including "Big Ben."

He was accompanied to the stand by a heavy guard. The guard stood by as he told his story to a closely attentive jury.

NEW ALIBI WITNESS.

Hugh McLean of Holyoke, a furniture dealer, first defense witness called today, testified that Chapman was in his store Saturday, October 11, to buy furniture and said he was going to New York.

This tends to corroborate the three Brooklyn witnesses who testified that Chapman was in that city Saturday night, the night before the New Britain murder.

"I am sure the defendant was the customer who came in my store on Saturday afternoon, October 11," testified McLean. "He called about 2:15 and left about 2:45. He was not so pale then as he is now. He said he had bought a house in South Hadley Centre and wanted to furnish five of the rooms.

"We talked over the merits of different types of furniture. He seemed to favor Grand Rapids furniture, but I told him of the good points of other makes. He said he wanted to get a parlor suite. He gave his name as George Shelbourne.

MAY CALL CHAPMAN.

"He said he wanted rugs and was going to New York and would be back Monday. I told him Monday would be a holiday and he said he would call again Tuesday."

"When he gave me his name I wrote it down 'George Shel—' and he finished the spelling 'bourne,' and I told him it sounded like an English name."

Q.—How long have you been in the furniture business? A.—All my life—I was born in a furniture store.

Cross-examined by State's Attorney Alcorn:

Q.—Had you read about the three witnesses who said the accused was in Brooklyn? A.—No, sir. I remember the incident very well.

Q.—Have any other customers that day? A.—Yes, some women.

Q.—Remember who they were? A.—Not now, they made no impression on me.

Q.—But you say you remember this man whom you have never seen before? A.—Yes, because I made a memorandum of his visit and wrote down his name and told him I would go to the house and make measurements of floors for rugs and check up what suitable rugs we had in stock.

GUN THAT MAY SEAL CHAPMAN'S DOOM

Arms experts examining revolver from which, it is charged, was fired the bullet that killed Patrolman James E. Skelly of New Britain, Ct. The weapon is owned by Gerald Chapman, super-bandit, accused of the officer's murder. Identification of the "death gun" may prove the fateful link in the chain of evidence by which the State hopes to send Chapman to the gallows. The two State experts are, left, J. H. Fitzgerald, and right, Colonel R. D. Jones. Both have testified that gun shown in picture is the Skelly "murder weapon." Captain W. A. Jones, another expert, may be called later in the case.

Link Chapman With $2,400,000 Robbery

Detroit, April 2.—Securities stolen in the $2,400,000 registered mail robbery in New York in 1922 and in which Gerald Chapman, now on trial for his life in Hartford, Ct., is said to have been the leading figure, are beng sought in Detroit.

According to Detroit secret service operatives, Chapman spent several weeks here in March, 1922, and during that time purchased some real estate and contracted for further investments. Payments for the property, the officers say, were made with bonds and other securities since identified as part of the loot of the mail robbery.

Chapman Asks Only 'Justice' at Trial

"I WAS never in New Britain to stop in my life. I was not with Shean on October 12. I can tell you where I was all the time. You must remember I was a fugitive from justice and was jumping around from State to State.

"If you want the truth—not the apparent truth—if you are interested in justice—ask me and I'll tell you."—From testimony of Gerald Chapman, super-bandit, on stand in own defence at New Britain murder trial today.

BILL AGAINST AUCTION SHARKS UP TO SENATE

The auctioneers' bill, so-called, designed to put fake auction sales out of business, was scheduled to come up in the Senate for debate today. The bill passed the House with several minor changes, the most important of which provides for auctioneers to keep books, instead of making weekly statements to the police. Another change permits the licensing authorities to declare a license forfeited after a reasonable time, following notice and an opportunity to be heard. The authorities can also suspend a license for a year on disqualification. A new section was added providing a fine of $100 or ten days or both for an auctioneer convicted of fraud and deceit, and the license can be taken without a hearing.

LIVERPOOL TO SEND PROFESSOR TO HARVARD

Harvard College has sent to Liverpool, England, for a new member of its faculty. He is Dr. Oliver Elton, King Alfred Professor of English literature in the University of Liverpool, one of three famous teachers who are to lecture at Harvard next year. Dr. Elton will lecture on modern English literature. The other appointments are: Dr. Charles W. Hackett of the University of Texas, who will lecture on Latin-American History, and Dr Eric T. Bell of the University of Washington, who will lecture on mathematics. Dr. Bell was recently awarded the Bocher Memorial Prize of the American Mathematical Society.

Chapman Dallied With Pretty Women While Planning Crimes

The Boston Evening American has succeeded in tracing Chapman's life history. This story will be presented in daily installments in this paper. The story contains many thrills, but it also contains a powerful sermon that the average boy or young man cannot afford to miss.

Here is the third installment. Follow the story daily in the Boston Evening American.

A drowsy night in lower Manhattan; a lumbering mail truck; a swift sedan, swooping alongside out of the night; a silent boarding by desperate men; quick work in the dark, and a getaway.

It took 180 seconds, and it was, in high light and half tone, the Leonard street mail robbery.

When the birds of prey who accomplished it swarmed back into their own machine they took with them $2,400,000 in cash and negotiable paper, the richest haul that ever fell to the lot of outlaws since the days of the fabled Forty Thieves.

CHAPMAN'S GREAT HOUR.

Gerald Chapman engineered that job. It was his masterpiece.

As he sits in his chair at Hartford, sometimes his eyes seem just a trifle sadder than usual, his face more overcast with gloom. Maybe he is grieving that the author of such a coup should be tried for a common killing in a small city in Connecticut, just as some artist of the golden age of painting might grieve to be judged by some sickly daub of a smirking inn keeper, done to pay the reckoning.

Undoubtedly, Chapman's great hour struck there in Leonard street, New York, shortly before midnight on October 24, 1921.

In the last article, Chapman was shown back in New York, living on the fat of the land without any visible means of support, telling his friends, with a wink, that he was in the "importing business"—meaning rum running. A story which the police do not believe.

GAMBLING URGE.

He and "Dutch" Anderson, his mentor since their Sing Sing days, together, were living at their usual pace when Chapman met Charles Loerber, another graduate of Sing Sing, although scarcely of his own class.

Loerber wanted to go straight, but didn't know how. He hadn't brains enough to make honestly the money he liked to spend, for, while Chapman took actresses and queens of the half-world to dinner, Loerber liked to cultivate affairs with chambermaids; and while Chapman dallied with the roulette wheel, Loerber liked to dice upon the stairs.

Chapman took him into service and made of him a combination body servant and intelligence officer. He dominated the thick-witted bungling Loerber, as surely as Svengali dominated Trilby.

Early in the Summer of 1921, the restless brain of Chapman conceived the Leonard street robbery, which was consummated in October.

STUDIED PATIENTLY.

The story of the planning of that crime is told on the strength of statements by Loerber himself, and others. Loerber didn't have the nerve to stand the gaff, and, in part at least, came through to the detectives.

After casting about for the point of least resistance, "Chapple" settled upon the trucks plying out of the downtown postoffice in New York. Nightly, even now, these huge trucks rumble along, bearing the ransom of kings, on their way to the main office uptown.

He did not undertake his masterpiece without patient study, close observation, and hours of hard work when he, the policemen and the truckmen had the quiet downtown streets to themselves.

DECIDED ON TRUCK.

Night after night, he or Anderson or both, trailed these trucks, noted their hours of departure and return, their route, their rate of speed, the peculiarities of their drivers.

By the discriminating distribution of one hundred dollar bills among one or two men "on the inside"—so the police believe—they got information as to the value of these cargoes which start rumbling out of lower Manhattan with the dusk.

One truck in particular took "Chapple's" eye. It was eventually settled upon as his objective.

On the night of the robbery, he and Anderson and Loerber were "waiting"—at a downtown street corner, from which they could see the big platform of the postoffice and the departure of its caravans.

The man on the seat of the mail truck was a veteran, incorruptible, brave, but he had driven that particular truck uptown hundreds of times before and nothing had ever happened to him.

HOLD UP TRUCK.

Maybe he was whistling a tune, or humming a song, or thinking of the discussion of decent pay for postal employes, which we have always with us.

But on a side street, the sedan, which had been trailing, swept alongside. A man hung from the running board. It was Chapman. He swung aboard, and shoved a gun into the truckman's stomach, and at his order, framed weeks before, the big machine pulled over into Leonard street.

There Anderson and Loerber and Chapman completed the job. The truck driver was gagged and bound and left helpless on the seat. The contents of his truck were sorted swiftly and silently. The labored breathing of Loerber alone disturbed the quietude. And a whistling pedestrian, a block away, changed his course for some inscrutable reason and swung out of danger, unconscious that it had ever been near.

As has been said, the whole thing took 180 seconds. Loerber driving, the bandit three sped to an abandoned farm on Long Island and there divided their loot.

TORTURE FOR LOERBER.

They did it in a shed, working day and night until it was finished. There was no squabbling. The bandit chief in the tailor-made clothes dominated the situation far too much for that. He had long since stopped taking suggestions from his teacher, Anderson. He had outgrown his teacher, as he had surpassed the freebooters and highwayman of fact and fiction in his daring and his efficiency.

Loerber said afterward that Chapman seemed happier than he had ever known him. Not only after the coup was made, but while it was in progress, and danger stood at his right hand.

"It was like a game to him," said Loerber. Poor old Loerber, who must have suffered a thousand deaths in the swiftly moving seconds that the job required!

(In tomorrow's article the Boston Evening American will tell of the solution of the Leonard street mail robbery mystery; the arrest of Chapman, Anderson and Loerber; Chapman's leap from a courthouse window while the Federal men were questioning him.)

TAXICAB DRIVER HELD UP AND ROBBED

Passengers Take $22.50 at Gun Point, Return $1 for "Employer"

John Dermody, driver of a taxicab, told the Waltham police early today he had been held up and robbed by two armed passengers, at Bigelow's Corner, Weston.

Dermody said the men, who had engaged him at North Station, Boston, to drive them to Marlboro, relieved him at gunpoint of $19.50 in fares and $3 of his own money.

The man who took the money then returned $1, he said, with instructions to give it to the chauffeur's employer with the compliments of the hold-up man.

According to Dermody, when the men engaged him they gave him $10 as payment. He had reached Bigelow's Corner near the Wayland town line, when one of the passengers put a gun to his head and commanded him to stop. Dedmody said he pulled up at the side of the road, and the fares got out of the cab. While one covered him with the gun, the other went through his pockets and took his money.

After cleaning up the men walked down the road, but a short time later, according to Dermody, a touring car shot past in the direction of Boston. Dermody said he believed the men were in the car and that it had trailed his cab.

JAILED FOR PLOT TO CONCEAL ASSETS

Max Cohen, formerly a Boston shoe dealer, and David Kaplan, a Waltham storekeeper, were sent to jail today by Judge Peters in the Federal District Court for conspiring to conceal assets in bankruptcy. Cohen was sent to the Greenfield jail for eighteen months and Kaplan to the Plymouth jail for fifteen honths.

Their conviction by a jury was secured last week by Assistant United States Attorney George R. Farnum, it being of a large number of alleged fradulent bankruptcy cases which Attorney Farnum is preparing for presentation to the courts.

HUB-NEW YORK AIR LINE IS PROPOSED

Checker Taxi Officials Developing Plans for High-Speed Planes

Announcement that an air line for the transportation of passengers and freight between Boston and New York is projected, reveals that for a considerable period a group of Boston men have been giving the subject serious thought. Their plans call for the exclusive financing of the project with Boston capital.

Already the matter has advanced to the stage where the question of airships are being considered.

Frank Sawyer of the Checker Taxi Company is included among those interested in the new Boston-New York air project. Working with him are several of the directors of the Checker company, men of unquestioned financial standing, who could take care of the project without New York assistance.

The actual flight calls for about two and one-half hours under the plan with about another hour allowed for reaching the starting field and the city from the landing field. The Boston business man who has reason for making a quick trip to New York need only call the Checker company, under the plan, and inform the aviation clerk that he wants to make that day's trip to new York. He can then be carried to the air liner's field.

When the plane reaches the landing field Checker machines will be in waiting to carry the passengers to whatever their New York destination may be.

MAN KILLED IN TAXI SHOOTING ON BRIDGE

New York, April 2.—One man was killed and another probably fatally wounded in a shooting in a taxicab at the Brooklyn end of Manhattan bridge, which held up traffic for half an hour. A third man was arrested on a charge of homicide and felonious assault, while trying to escape on a passing truck.

World Made Better by Acts Like This

There is a conductor who had charge of a Newton-Brighton trolley car Wednesday morning, who furnished a striking example of the fact that courteousness is not a thing of the past.

A Boston Evening American reporter ran for an inbound car on Commonwealth avenue, and reached it just as the doors were closing. The conductor held the car and reopened the doors so that he could board it. Then the reporter discovered he had left all his money at home.

Much embarassed he started to explain, but the conductor, with a smile, remarked carelessly:

"That's all right, pay me some other time." Then he overwhelmed the reporter by asking if he could loan him a quarter or half-dollar.

HUB FIREMEN AT FUNERAL OF CHIEF

30 Men in Uniform Escort Body of McDonough to Cemetery

Thirty members of the Boston fire department in uniform today acted as a funeral escort at the funeral of District Fire Chief Edward McDonough of Charlestown.

The firemen, under command of Deputy Chief Edward J. Shallow, escorted the body to St. Mary's Church, Warren street, Charlestown, where the requiem mass was sung, and later marched with the body to the cemetery.

In addition, all members and officers of the fire department who were off duty attended the services.

NEW SLUR CAST ON CAMBRIDGE ELM

Mt. Vernon Plate Casts Doubt on Truth of Washington Review Episode

"Certainly the piece of the Washington Elm from Cambridge is in the kitchen at Mt. Vernon. Where the devil did they expect us to put it? In Washington's bed-chamber?"

This is the rather snappy answer of Harrison H. Dodge, superintendent of Mt. Vernon, home of George Washington, to the angry protests of the members of the Cambridge Park Board, who became incensed when they learned that the piece of the elm, which was blown down a year ago, had found no better resting place than the kitchen of the shrine.

The Mt. Vernon superintendent also disclosed that in placing an inscription on the piece of wood forwarded to Mt. Vernon from Cambridge, another blow had unwittingly been dealt the Cambridge patriots.

The inscription attached to the log reads: "Washington Elm under which Washington is SUPPOSED to have taken command of the Continental Army."

Cambridge folk declare there is no doubt that Washington stood under the elm in reviewing the Continental troops.

Other investigators of late, however, have cast some doubts on the subject, one even going so far as to say the elm episode is a myth.

Society Keeps Shop to Aid Infirmary

Mrs. R. C. Curtis, Jr., Heads Enterprise at Back Bay Store

Betty Alden

Mrs. David Cheever, a smart set matron, who played the role of cicerone when the very young set held their supper dance earlier in the week.

SOCIETY IS KEEPING SHOP this week. Maids and matrons, mention of whose names brings to mind the very essence of Boston smartness, are serving customers at Gilbert's, selling all sorts of delicious things for the table—fruits, candies and groceries—to reap a harvest of dollars for that fine old institution, the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary.

MRS. RICHARD C. CURTIS, JR. (Anita Grosvenor), is at the head of this large enterprise. Everything was going beautifully when I dropped into the store, and even that early an energetic group was on hand. Mrs. John Reed Post and her daughter, Miss Mary Post, were there, learning the finer points of salesmanship and the intricacies of the cash book.

OF COURSE A HOST of Mrs. Curtis' friends in the upper set are rallying enthusiastically to her and the Infirmary's cause. Some come to serve and all come to buy, and Mr. Gilbert, with his usual generosity, is giving to the charity 20 per cent. of every dollar of cash purchases made during yesterday and tomorrow.

MESDAMES Ellery James, Frederick Burnham, Thomas Beal, Leverett Saltonstall, Edward Cunningham, Charles A. Coolidge, Jr., George Putnam, George P. Denny, Reginald Fitz and Thomas C. Thacher, Jr., are some of those who will be "behind the counter" in the shop to serve tea in the tea room just across the hall.

THE TEA ROOM is a delightfully appointed place and plays a large part in Mrs. Curtis' scheme for corralling a heavy flow of dollars for the charity's coffers. Galvin has sent a wealth of floral decorations, Piranian Brothers have sent gorgeous Oriental rugs for the floor and Chase & Sanborn are furnishing the entire tea room equipment.

A COLOR SCHEME of pale, soft sky blue is the principal motif. Tea and coffee will be served every afternoon between two o'clock and six. And each of the just-mentioned firms is giving to the infirmary a percentage on everything sold.

NOR DOES THE helpfulness of firms and individuals stop there. The "Broadside" (as the poster announcing the sale is named) was the labor of love of Paul Hollister and serves in a charming way to draw many prospective purchasers to the shop.

THE COMMITTEE aiding Mrs. Curtis is weighty with distinguished names. Mesdames William Endicott, Reginald Foster, William Stuart Forbes, Bartlett Harwood, Henry Minot, Louis Curtis, Jr., Samuel Eliot, G. Colket Carter, Richard C. Paine and George H. Lyman, Jr., are a few of the matrons. Miss Annie Endicott Nourse, Miss Edith Fitz, Miss Constance Vaillant, Miss Elizabeth Beal, Miss Frances Weld and Miss Mildred Kennedy are others who have the welfare of the Infirmary at heart.

RUNNING an enormous benefit, however, is not the most stupendous thing Mrs. Richard Curtis has to her credit. She it was who spent some three months in the African jungle gathering specimens of plant life and making photographs, the entire collection presented on her return to the Arnold Arboretum.

SHE AND Mr. Curtis, with Mr. Curtis' father and brother, Charles Pelham Curtis and Charles Pelham Curtis, Jr., went into Africa on a long trek, going inland from Mombassa in British East Africa. The men of the party continued their journey in pursuit of big game, but Mrs. Curtis was out for game of quite another sort.

IN SOME PARTS of Africa she visited in her hunt for flowers and plants the natives greeted her as a person from another planet, for she was the first white woman they had ever seen. In fact, no American woman, and only two or three British women explorers have ever taken such a trip.

MRS. ROBERT TREAT PAINE, in the smartest of frocks and chapeaux, with pearls her ornaments, was a distinguished figure in the throng which filled to overflowing Richard Platt's studio in Lime Street yesterday, for one of his afternoons of music.

EVERYONE, OF COURSE, regretted that Mrs. Alvan Fuller did not appear. She was down for a number of songs, but official duties intervened and Wellington Smith stepped into the breach and held his audience spellbound with an impromptu program of song after song, all unusual and all marvellously done.

DENOE LEEDY, PIANIST, shared program honors with Mr. Smith, and shared the applause also. It was one of the most delightful afternoons Mr. Platt has staged, and he has any number of such to his credit.

FOR THE TEA HOUR, which follows the musical program, Mrs. Odin Roberts and Mrs. Robert Cushman were behind the urns dispensing the cheery beverage. Mrs. Cushman was in a frock of black with touches of red, and Mrs. Roberts wore a smart beige crepe topped with a broad hat of black satin.

MR. PLATT IS CONTINUING his afternoons of music through April, as is his custom. The next is scheduled for Wednesday week, and a distinguished company of artists, writers and musicians will fill his delightfully appointed music room, for the hospitalities have become a fixture in the Winter's program.

QUICK RELIEF FROM COSTIVENESS

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing, vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache — torpid liver — constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 15c and 30c.

BRIDGEWATER SCHOOL TO GET $20,000 MORE

As the fight began today in the Massachusetts House of Representatives against Governor Fuller's cut of $200,000 in eight items of the general appropriation bill, the Governor sent word that owing to the discovery of a mistake in the architect's figures on the new State Normal School at Bridgewater he was willing to agree to an additional $20,000 for that item. Representative Henry L. Shattuck of Boston, chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means, launched an attack on Governor Fuller's cuts immediatelyafter the message was read.

TRANS-ATLANTIC AIRSHIP ON BRITISH TEST FLIGHT

London, April 2.—The dirigible R-33, of trans-Atlantic flight fame, left her shed at Cardington, Bedfordshire, today and after a flight of three and a half hours landed at Pulham, Norfolk, where extensive flights and tests will be conducted. This was the first time the R-33 has taken the air since 1921, and the first airship flight in England since the disaster to the R-38. Major G. Scott, who piloted the ship across the Atlantic, commanded her in today's flight.

BOSTON HARBOR $400,000 FUND AUTHORIZED

An effort of many years' duration was crowned with success today when it was learned from Washington that Secretary of War Weeks has authorized General Taylor, chief engineer of the Army, to expend nearly $400,000 in broadening and deepening Boston harbor's entrance channel.

The project calls for enlarging the channel through Broad Sound from the open ocean to President Roads, making it possible for the largest liners, including the Leviathan and the Majestic, to enter Boston harbor in any stage of a tide.

At present the bigger craft are forced to wait outside for high water with a resulting delay in time.

Over a period of a number of years, the Boston Chamber of Commerce, and maritime and commercial leaders have fought for an appropriation that would carry through the project authorized by law some time ago.

The work, when completed, will total an expenditure of nearly a million dollars, and Boston's commerce will be boomed considerably with the olden wait outside for high water eliminated. It is the last unfinished portion of harbor betterment work.

Eight years ago the channel project was authorized, but work was never begun, the war and post-war conditions holding up an appropriation.

'LONE WOLF'S' CAPTORS ARE PROMOTED

Seven patrolmen of the Boston police department have been promoted to be sergeants and will assume their new ranks tomorrow. The promotions were announced in a general order from Police Commissioner Herbert A. Wilson.

The men promoted and their assignments are:

Special Officer Frank McNabb of Back Bay station, assigned to headquarters.

Patrolman Dennis F. Driscoll of Roxbury Crossing station, assigned to East Dedham street station.

Patrolman John C. Blake of East Dedham street station, assigned to Hyde Park station.

Patrolman Thomas F. McGrade of Milk street station, assigned to superintendent's office.

Special Officer Robert C. Mooney of Hanover street station, assigned to East Dedham street station.

Patrolman David V. Tuttle of City Point station, assigned to superintendent's office.

Patrolman Henry W. Lasky of Joy street station, assigned to superintendent's office.

Two of the newly made sergeants, McNabb and Driscoll, were active in the capture of the "Lone Wolf." It was Special Officer McNabb who found the fingerprint on the ginger ale bottle in a Back Bay apartment that led to the capture of the "Wolf."

COOLIDGE BOOMER IS NAMED FOR JUDGESHIP

Washington, April 2.—Wallace McCamant of Portland, Ore., who upset the plans of Republican leaders by stampeding the Chicago convention in 1920 to Calvin Coolidge for Vice President, was recommended to President Coolidge today for a Federal judgeship.

Senator Stanfield took the recommendation to the White House, suggesting that Mr. McCamant be named to the vacancy caused by retirement of Judge Ross of the Ninth Circuit.

GIRL, 5, SUCCUMBS TO LONG HUNGER STRIKE

Auburn, N. Y., April 2.—Mildred Martin, five years old, died at her home today, a martyr to her love for her missing father. Mildred, who refused food for 76 days because her father failed to come home after a two years' absence, sank rapidly during the night and physicians despaired of saving her life. Medical science was baffled by the strange obsession that seized the child's mind. During the delirium that followed her hunger strike she continually called for her father.

CHURCH BOARD FIGHTING TO KEEP PASTOR

All but Three of 29 Stewards Protest to Bishop on Removal of Rev. Mr. Smith

Providence, April 2.—Declaring their belief that the Rev. H. Kenneth Smith, pastor of the East Greenwich Methodist Episcopal Church, is being transferred to Taunton as a disciplinary measure for his activities in trying to "clean up the town," 26 of the 29 members of the church board of stewards have drafted a protest against his removal to Bishop William F. Anderson of the New England Southern Conference.

The stewards accuse Dr. I. W. LeBaron, district superintendent for Rhode Island, of negligence in considering the case and for assenting to the transfer. They say that Mr. Smith's transfer is an act of grave injustice which gives "comfort and satisfaction to the lawless and vicious elements in our town who so fervently desire Mr. Smith's removal."

CRITICISES DR LeBARON.

Mr. Smith will be succeeded as pastor next Sunday by the Rev. Howard P. Davis.

On Wednesday night, at an informal talk at the church, Mr. Smith charged Dr. LeBaron with inconsistency in telling him to start disciplinary action against members of the board of trustees if he thought "he had anything on them." He said, "the inconsistency of Dr. LeBaron's statement is obvious when he well knows that I am being removed from the pastorate.

"This, of course, makes it impossible for me to act upon his advice. They have tied a man's hands together and then asked him to shuck corn."

OFFICIAL BOARD ANGERED.

The protest drafted by the stewards said, in part: "That we believe that there is no valid reason for Mr. Smith's removal from this church and, in our opinion, the only reason that could be advanced for Mr. Smith's removal was the fact that by reason of his activity for civic righteousness and law enforcement he has incurred the displeasure of those who are not in sympathy with such civic righteousness and law enforcement.

"That we believe that the common sentiment and generally accepted opinion throughout this community is that Mr. Smith is being disciplined for his activity in the clean-up movement in this town by removal from this pastorate.

"That we believe that the district superintendent, I. W. LeBaron, has, by his insistence that Mr. Smith be removed, precipitated a situation in our church which threatens its very life."

"Noel was carrying me to the dressing-room, up a little flight of stairs and behind an Oriental screen, when I opened my eyes."

My Escape from Studio Sheiks

WHAT is the real truth about the temptations of beautiful art models?

In May SMART SET appears the answer. Corrine, called by rich young men "the prettiest model that ever entered a Greenwich Village studio," tells the true story of her almost unbelievable adventures.

"One day, when I was making $10 a week at the glove counter, Maizie said to me:

"Listen, Corrine, what'd the Lord make you beautiful for if you ain't going to make use of it?"

"That last made me do some thinking. I was pretty—lots of class, the boys said. Some shape! Shudders chased up and down my back when I thought of that hateful phrase, as though some one was pawing me with dirty hands. I had a bright idea. I'd model . . . .

"The first time I posed for Noel Arnold I fainted and almost spoiled everything . . . Noel didn't know I was new to it all. I so wanted to please him that I held on to my strained position longer than I should . . . .

"When he laid me on the lounge where I had undressed I opened my eyes. He was smiling.

"I knew why now—he thought I was shamming. He thought I had fainted on purpose—probably others had tried it before, toppling off the dais into his arms . . . .

"About a month after Noel finished "The Wind Girl", as he called my picture, he announced a studio party. I'd heard of them, and I looked forward to his with a bit of misgiving, and what happened was a whole lot worse than I feared . . . "

What occurs at "studio parties" given by rich young men? What experiences sent this girl flying into the night with a memory that made her thankful for the morality of her dingy hallroom? Who was back of the strange Want Ad that seemed to entice this tempted young girl away from her chosen poverty to orgies masquerading as art?

You will know the whole thrilling truth about the temptations of beautiful art models when you read in full Corrine's outspoken story "I Tried to be a Model of Virtue" in May SMART SET. Buy it today at the nearest news-stand.

FINANCIER IS CLEARED IN DIVORCE

Symington Tells Horace H. Work He Is Not One of Co-respondents

New York, April 1.—Thomas H. Symington, wealthy manufacturer and clubman, who recently filed a bill of particulars in support of his divorce suit brought last year against his wife, has denied naming Horace H. Work, New York financier and resident of Madison, N. J., as one of three co-respondents, as was stated in a dispatch of March 26.

In a letter given out by Mr. Work, who is now at Palm Beach, Fla., Mr. Symington said he was shocked by the publication of the story. His letter follows:

"Baltimore, Md., March 27, 1925.
"Dear Horace:

"I am tremendously shocked to see in the newspapers of yesterday, and this morning, an article in which it is stated that I have named you as co-respondent in the bill of particulars in my divorce case against Mrs. Symington. It is hardly necessary for me to tell you that this is absolutely without any fondation whatever."

Wins Divorce

Ora Carew, screen actress, today was awarded an interlocutory degree of divorce at Los Angeles from John Howard, son of a Haverhill capitalist, on charges of extreme cruelty. The marriage took place in December, 1922, and the couple separated last June.

STOLEN AUTO IS FOUND RIDDLED WITH BULLETS

Police Puzzled by Shots; Two Tire Thief Suspects Are Caught in South End

A stolen automobile, riddled with bullet holes, was abandoned in Winthrop square in front of the office of the Boston Evening American early today.

At about the same time two alleged tire thieves were captured in in the act of stripping cars, by employes of the Motor Inn Garage in Albany street.

The bullet-torn automobile, stolen in the Back Bay last night, is the property of Lawrence F. Percival of No. 60 Commonwealth avenue.

Patrolman Edward J. Boyle of the Milk street station, while passing through Winthrop square, noticed the car, which was a new sport model machine, heavily powered. There was one bullet hole in the rear of the top, another, possibly made by the same shot, in the wind shield, while another bullet had struck the left front mudguard.

The police, who took charge of the car, were mystified as they had no reports of any shots having been fired in Greater Boston. It is thought the thieves were fired on either in a holdup or when they failed to stop on command of an officer.

Jack Atherton, George Turnbull and Frederick Bull were the employes who caught the alleged thieves.

Atherton, attracted by noise at the rear of the garage, discovered the two men rapidly dismounting tires of autos owned by garage employes. He summoned Turnbull and Bull.

At sight of the trio, one of the alleged thieves broke into a run, fell and was pounced upon.

The other offered no resistance.

An automobile was parked a few feet away. It was later identified as belonging to the intruders.

In the car were three automobile tires. Two were of the balloon type. The third, of another make, was identified as that stolen from a car belonging to Bull.

At the East Dedham street station, one of the pair said that he is Edward McGillicudy, thirty-one years old, of Boyd street, Newton. The other gave his name as James E. Conway, thirty-two years old, of No. 22 Savin Hill avenue, Dorchester.

Vets' Bureaus Has 7,126 T. B. Patients

Washington, April 2.—Net cost to the government of increased compensation payable under the World War Veterans' Act of 1924 was placed today by Director Hines of the Veterans' Bureau, at $6,928,487 to March 1. At the end of February, he added, 6,862 neuro-psychiatric cases and 7,126 tuberculosis cases were being handled by the bureau.

Under a provision increasing to $150 a month the payment to veterans who lost the use of both eyes, the increase amounted to $181,352 in 23 cases. For the loss of both eyes and one or more limbs, monthly payments of $200 are provided. Increases in four cases totalling $2,350.

A food for Nerve or Nerves

This new Sunshine Soda Cracker

NOWADAYS sensible folks seem to be avoiding trick health foods and coming back to common-sense eating. The table at the right is a complete justification for this.

It is surprising how really good the normal old time diet really is for replenishing brain or brawn.

Notice how high this Soda Cracker ranks as a food, and particularly in the right hand column under "Energy value."

So that aside from its delicious eating quality, this Sunshine Soda Cracker is a good thing for you.

Made in a new way—
The Full Grain Process

Within the last year, and after months of trial and study, Sunshine Bakeries have perfected a way of making soda crackers better. Better in several ways, in flavor, in texture, and in looks.

We are a little jealous of this method, a bit proud, maybe, because there are several baking innovations involved in it.

The blending of the flour, the handling of the dough (something new), and in securing uniformity day in and day out.

The test of any baking process, of course, is in the cracker itself.

We honestly think that you will like this new soda cracker, which you can recognize by its special shape, even before you eat it.

The flavor of this cracker owes much to its shape (patented). The notched sides form vent holes in the sheet of crackers as they bake.
This assures through and through baking. In addition this cracker is more convenient to eat—doesn't crumble and can readily be split in two.

EDITH GOULD TELLS OF RICH MARRIAGES

which took place April 19, 1910, in St. Bartholomew's Church, things were far from normal among the feminine members of the family. Mamma and Marjorie were so busy that they hardly had time to talk to the temporarily less important daughters. Even Vivien, who was to marry less than a year later, was almost a supernumerary for the time being.

Hopes held by Gloria and me that the day would come when we, too, could be the centre of attraction and attention were not to be fulfilled for the reasons that I eloped and Gloria's wedding took place soon after papa died and did not cause the slightest ripple of excitement among society or the public.

The weddings of my two elder sisters, however, caused an enormous amount of public interest, a condition reflected by the newspapers, which devoted columns and columns to them.

Weddings, today, of even the most prominent people, are no longer featured on the front page. One reason is that people are not as interested in the doings of prominent families.

The day before Marjorie became Mrs. Drexel there was a rehearsal in the church. I played my part perfectly at this, but the next day, in the church, just as Tony placed the ring on Marjorie's finger, I shattered the silence by bursting into tears.

It was not the solemnity that affected me; it was the awful thought that Marjorie, whom I loved, was going out of my life forever. My childish fears, luckily, were not borne out by subsequent events, because Marjorie frequently visited us after her marriage and we often visited her.

Remarks Censored

There was a reception after the ceremony at our house, at No. 857 Fifth avenue, where I had to stand in line with the other members of the bridal party and greet all the guests, who numbered 800.

I asked each guest, as he or she shook hands with me, "How did I look?"

That is, I asked the question until mama overheard me. Thereafter I confined my remarks to: "How do you do?" to the accompaniment of a courtesy.

At Vivien's marriage to Lord Decies at St. Bartholomew's on February 7, 1911, I was nearly a year older and felt that my experience as a flower girl entitled me to recognition as a veteran if not as an expert. It was a considerable promotion to be maid-of-honor because this post corresponds with that of best man. Yet I did not feel nearly so important as on the first occasion, although I suppose I did patronize Gloria a bit for being merely a flower girl.

In spite of this confidence in myself, I took stage fright at the moment it was my cue to turn the bride's lengthy train and one of the bridesmaids had to step into the breach and do it for me.

This wedding was particularly impressive because most of the ushers—friends of Lord Decies—wore military uniforms dazzling in their magnificence.

Both Very Happy

It is certainly pleasant to record that both these matches proved to be extremely happy, as did that of my brother, Jay, to Miss Anne Douglas Graham, which followed Vivien's by a little more than two months.

The next article will tell of the influence played on our family life by my grandmother, Mrs. Kingdon.

CLAIMANT IN CRABTREE SUIT LOSES POINT

Mrs. Ida Blankenberg of Tulsa, Okla., lost a point today in her fight to make good her claim that she is the daughter and true heir of Lotta Crabtree.

In Suffolk County Probate Court, Judge Prest denied her motion that oral depositions be taken in Lancashire, Eng. in connection with her claim. Mrs. Blankenberg sailed for England recently.

He added that he would deny her further motion for the taking of oral testimony in Davenport, Ia., unless counsel for the special administrators and Carlotta Cockburn, a cousin of Lotta Crabtree, seconded it. The attorneys to whom he referred are now in the West taking testimony relating to her claims.

Judge Prest said that he would, however, permit Mrs. Blankenberg to file with the Supreme Court a motion as to jury issues.

The net result of Judge Prest's rulings today is that the Crabtree estate is not to bear the expense of taking depositions in widely separated cities to strengthen Mrs. Blenkenberg's contention. She herself may have them taken at her own expense.

WALES TO WED SWEDISH PRINCESS

London, April 2.—The betrothal of the Prince of Wales to Princess Martha, niece of the King of Sweden, will be announced after the completio nof the Prince's tour to South Africa and Argentine, according to a report now current in society circles.

The heir to the throne much resents the speculation about his eventual marriage and none of his entourage is prepared to discuss any name. It is stated that the betrothal was delayed last Christmas when the Swedish King and Queen visited King George and Queen Mary.

It is stated in inner circles that the disadvantages from the court viewpoint of the heir marrying any girl not of royal blood would outweigh the advantages. Therefore, a consort was sought among the few remaining ruling houses in Europe. It is believed that one of the daughters of the King of Italy would have been sought but for the fact that the Catholic faith of the Italian royal house was a bar to what would otherwise have been the best possible diplomatic marriage.

AFTER LEAVING THE HOSPITAL

Was Weak and Miserable. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Mrs. Auger's Strength

Lowell, Massachusetts. — "I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the little books that you send around and I felt very good after I had taken a couple of bottles of it. I had been in the hospital and felt pretty well at first but I went down to nothing. I was weak and had to lie in bed almost all day. I had dizzy and faint spells, pains in my back and lower parts and was so nervous I could not bear my children around. I hope the Vegetable Compound helps other women as it did me. I do all my own work now and feel so well. I have told my friends about it and my sister and my aunt." — Mrs. OLIVE AUGER, 19 Howard Street, Lowell, Massachusetts.

Over 200,000 women have so far replied to our question, "Have you received benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?"

98 out of every 100 of the replies say "Yes," and because the Vegetable Compound has been helping other women it should help you.

The Girl Who Became a Boy by Hany Vellis

A Virile, Human Story of a Girl of Today

The Story Thus Far

LIKE a tired gull to a ship's rigging came Barbara Brown out of the New Year's blizzard to the jewel house in Ryeneck, where J. B. Hardman was wont to indulge his overlord fancy for youth and beauty. The player having got his grip [illegible] the next thing I would suggest [illegible] rolling move[illegible] of the left forearm just after he starts the clubhead away from the ball. This [illegible] rather natural and instinctive motion because the [illegible] toward [illegible] at this [illegible] however, [illegible] be kept to its fixed position [illegible] the clubhead faces squarely to the ball as the club head is withdrawn. A rolling of this forearm will turn the club face away from the ball, which is permissible only in a flat swing. When you have eradicated this forearm roll from the start of the back swing, watch out that it doesn't again creep in near the top of your back swing—it's a persistent offender.

JAPAN ACQUIRES RICH RUSSIAN OIL FIELDS

Given Right to Develop on 50-50 Basis for 40 Years; Also in Coal Regions

By JOHN T LAMBERT.

Washington, April 2.—High public officials interested in new oil fields because of the immense value of the commercial development and future defence of the country were today amazed by the extent of the oil concessions granted to Japan in the rich northern Sakhalin district by the Russian Soviet government.

The first official copy of the Russian-Japanese pact was received today revealing that Japan not only was [illegible] one half the known output of one of the richest fields in the world but also was granted the right to [illegible] fifty share of all the new oil that may be produced there for forty to fifty years.

The [illegible] are also authorized to exploit the coal fields in the [illegible] district and along the western [illegible] of [illegible] Sakhalin.

Soap begins to wash— only when dissolved ~

THE moment you pour the rich Rinso solution into the wash water it begins to loosen the dirt. All the time and work you used to spend in rubbing bar soap on the clothes and then rubbing them—you save with Rinso.

Its tiny granules dissolve quickly, completely, making the wash water soapy all through.

Gently, harmlessly the dirt is loosened while the clothes soak. All the work Rinso leaves for you to do is the rinsing. That's why it's called Rinso. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

Gently loosens dirt—as wonderful for the weekly wash as LUX is for fine things. Always use enough Rinso to get creamy, lasting suds.

DAILY SHORT STORY

MR. AND MRS. SOLLY

By Jack Woodford

"SILENT SOLLY was married [illegible] the start [illegible] went the rounds of [illegible] office in the firm of [illegible] where Solly worked as a [illegible]

[illegible] Can you imagine [illegible] the strong [illegible] who [illegible] had tried [illegible] Solly to [illegible]

A Dogs Life.

[illegible] certainly lead a dog's life," [illegible] Melba, "such a peculiar kind of a guy. Never says much, but [illegible] ever loses his temper, and always [illegible] everyone walk all over him. Can you imagine a meek guy who never gets sore getting married [illegible] so darn good natured [illegible] I bet she'll walk all over him."

[illegible] they [illegible] Never did he seem to lose for a moment his usual poise of [illegible] good nature [illegible] was a phenomenal thing. Inasmuch as [illegible] twice now [illegible] and both times [illegible] everyone as "up [illegible] snappy and inclined to be unthawable."

It was early in May that the first real out and out break came. The apartment in which the newlyweds lived was in a building owned by one of those kind of landlords who heat by contract [illegible] and May first, off [illegible] and down came [illegible] building with cold[illegible] were no exception [illegible] once [illegible] usual calm [illegible] heat [illegible] ly's [illegible] in the came [illegible] newlyweds [illegible] his [illegible] Mrs. Solly [illegible] position [illegible] up [illegible] [illegible] king

One Monday [illegible] Mrs. Solly refused [illegible] to get [illegible] Solly [illegible] up [illegible] Maltese kitten he was [illegible]

No Fight in Him.

"That's perfectly all right, dear; you just lie still [illegible] get a bite out this morning." This infuriated Mrs. Solly, for she knew perfectly well that her cold was not as bad as her husband's and that there was no reason on earth [illegible] shouldn't get up and get him [illegible] coffee. What was the matter with the man—wasn't there any [illegible] him?

"You don't love me any more," she snapped from beneath the silken covers. Solly [illegible] nothing, and went on calmly [illegible] his scarf pin into his tie.

"You brute [illegible] don't let me stay here in [illegible] house if you cared anything for me." She opened one eye wide to see if this had taken effect.

"It's a darn shame," agreed Solly, "I'll drop in at the health department today and see if something can't be done about it. Perhaps, after all, we'd better just go to a hotel for a few days [illegible] it gets warmer. I [illegible] to bother the [illegible] and I suppose he has his reasons for this and no doubt everyone else is [illegible] him to death about it." This infuriated Mrs. Solly for she was bound and determined to be infuriated—it was one of that kind of Mondays.

"You haven't got the gumption of a squirrel!" she announced with rising wrath. Solly replied nothing. He was adjusting his gold chain through the buttonhole in the top of his vest. Completely outraged, Mrs. Solly rose on one elbow and threw a pillow at him; it missed his hair. Solly smiled back playfully, combed and brushed his hair again and said nothing. Little things were creeping along his spine however. One thing that did make him mad was to have his wiry hair disarranged after he had wooed it into lying flat upon his head, which was a difficult feat. It was characteristic of Solly that when he did get angry he immediately beamed as though tremendously pleased about something.

"You grinning idiot!" shouted his wife, "I'm going home today. I talk to you and you don't pay any attention to me—why you don't even fight with me—what good is a husband that won't even . . ." she flung the other pillow. This one not only mussed Solly's hair again, after he had thoroughly pacified it, and got it to lay flat for the second time, but also knocked over a bottle of perfume, which had cost seven dollars and which immediately proceeded to ruin beyond all hope of repair a dolly upon the dresser top which had cost ten dollars. Solly smiled again. He gave up the hair as a bad job, and patiently wiped up the perfume.

Spoke Softly.

"I see you're feeling very badly this morning," he said softly. "I'll go out into the kitchen before I go and make you a little toast and coffee and bring it in so you won't have to get up until it warms up a little—I'll leave the gas heater on when I go." Mrs. Solly lay back limp and glared at him impotently. With clumsy effort Solly toasted several wafer thin slices of bread, brewed a cup of coffee and carried them into the bedroom where Mrs. Solly had lain for the last fifteen minutes, silently raging in a perfect frenzy of anger and hate. It was mighty seldom that she got such spells, but when they did occur; well, they came.

Solly approached the bed, tray in hand and leaned over. With a sudden swift movement, Mrs. Solly gave the tray a mighty push with her hand. Over went the coffee, down upon Solly's meticulously creased trousers. Solly straightened up, smiling.

"Guess you're a little distrait, dear," he said softly. The little things were fairly hopping up and down his spine now. "I'll just run [illegible] and later, perhaps, you'll feel better." Suddenly he grasped the [illegible] pull chain on the electric light and as swiftly bent over and kissed her on the lips. There was a terrific scream and Mrs. Solly lay back frightened, panting.

"You brute! What have you done to me?" she said through trembling lips, her face white as a sheet. Solly looked penitent. He looked at the pull chain, he looked at the brass bedstead.

Defective Socket.

"Oh, I see! That must be a defective socket, yes, I remember, it is a defective socket; just the other day I got a shock from it. You see, your arm was up against the bedstead, which touches the radiator pipe; with my hand on the pull chain and your hand on the bedstead, our lips completed a circuit to the ground!"

"I feel as though I had been shot by a dum-dum bullet!" raged Mrs. Solly, trembling in every limb.

"Just a moment, dear, and I'll get you a glass of water, you look faint." Solly returned with the glass of ice water, tripped on the carpet, and spilled it all over her. Another frantic scream.

"Oh, I'm so sorry!" commiserated Solly, the picture of horrified contrition. "I'll go now, before I do any more damage." He lit a cigaret and turned to go. Another wild scream from Mrs. Solly.

"Quick, quick, you idiot! You dropped that match on the bed, look it's catching fire!" With a bound Mrs. Solly reached the middle of the floor and stood shivering. In a few moments Solly had helped her open the [illegible] in the parlor and climb into it with a new set of covers. Before she was fully aware of what he was doing he stood at her side again.

"Here, take this dear," he said, shoving the pills into her mouth.

"Oh, oh, oh, oh!" wailed Mrs. Solly, "for Heaven's sake go before you murder me; what on earth was it—I'm poisoned!"

No More Fight

"Just calomel, dear; thought perhaps the chill and everything—calomel and quinine—I gave you one of each." Mrs. Solly lay back weakly. There was no more fight in her. She suffered him to kiss her good-bye silently.

"Perhaps you'll feel better when I get home," he suggested, as he softly closed the front door. Only then did Mrs. Solly notice the significant note in his voice. But she understood.

Unquestionably, if there had been a referee present, he would have raised Solly's right arm aloft.

LITTLE SKETCHES

This is Dora Dumb, whose thoughts and notions we have displayed now and again. She's tickled to death because General Mitchell was absolved in the Tea Pot Dome scandal and says that the Democratic party ought to be a success, as all parties are nowadays. She claims she can keep all husbands from leaving home, by abolishing the home. Nothing could be simpler than that.

"Or," she goes on to say, "the girls might stay single. Then their husbands couldn't leave 'em, if you know what I mean."

MEDBURY SAYS

By John P. Medbury

TOMATIC gum and peanut devices are very common, but eval cities now have five cent fee and sandwich machines on y street corners.

OU can stand on the sidewalk and have your lunch while you're ting for the traffic signals to nge.

f course you've got to have a cup with you. It's hard to carry loose ffee in your hand.

BECAUSE no matter how close-fisted a man may be, his fingers are bound to leak.

AFTER you put the cream and sugar in your coffee, you can take it into a nearby restaurant and ask them to stir it for you.

IF they happen to be busy, they'll loan you a spoon and let you do the work yourself.

THESE coffee and sandwich machines are located on various corners, but you've got to know where they are. One guy from the country spent three hours putting nickels into a mail box.

WHEN the postman came and opened it, this rube was surprised to find it filled with letters instead of sandwiches.

HE demanded something for his money, so he ate two special delivery letters and a post card.

HE walked on down the street and decided to try another machine. This time, he broke the glass, dropped a nickel in and got seven fire engines.

HE said it was a shame that a man couldn't try and get a ham sandwich without calling the whole fire department to watch him eat it.

HE claimed he wasn't so tall that he needed a hook and ladder to reach his mouth.

WHEN he looked up and saw all those bright red automobiles, he thought they were lunch wagons.

HE passed up that sandwich machine and tried another one further down the avenue. This time he couldn't find a slot so he shoved a nickel through one of the cracks.

Why Her Miserable Headaches, Sick Stomach and Pimply Skin Have Gone

Says Everyone Should Make INDICAN TEST Same as She Did

Miss Betty Fitch, Beauty in "Earl Carroll Vanities" after she rid herself of Indican

The Indican Test has shown Miss Fitch, as it has thousands of others, that sick headaches, broken out skin and pale complexion, simply cannot be permanently relieved until the Indican is removed from the system.

Indican shows there is poison being pumped into your blood, and unless you stop this poison it may cause serious sickness—perhaps rheumatism or neuritis, gastritis, or maybe even lung trouble or other serious disease.

The alarming part of it is, we do not often realize the Indican is there. But when the appetite gets poor, the breath foul, when you have dizzy headaches, bilious attacks, sour, bloated up stomach, gas—it's a pretty sure sign you have Indican.

The best thing to do is to have a urinalysis made, and if the chemist reports Indican present start taking Carter's Little Liver Pills for a few days, and see how all these signs start to disappear.

Carter's Little Liver Pills not only make the stomach, liver and bowels work in a fine healthy manner, but also have been found to drive the Indican out of the system.

DUST COVERS FOR CLOTHES

By Hannah Wing

A Recognized Authority on All Matters Pertaining to Household Management.

ANY garment will retain its freshness much longer if it is protected from dust and strong light by a cover bag.

Any material which is dust-proof and will stand laundering without becoming sleazy may be used for making cover bags. Sateen, cambric, cretonne or silkolene are satisfactory materials for this purpose. Lighter weight materials such as mull or lawn may be used, but because of their softness they do not furnish as good protection against dust.

The bag may be sewed up at the sides and an envelope opening left at the bottom so that the bag may be slipped over the garment. A bound button hole at the top of the bag is made just large enough for the hook on the hanger to be slipped through.

If the button hole is larger than necessary, it will allow dust to sift through on to the garment. The envelope-like flap is folded over and may be tied with tapes to the body of the bag or may be fastened with buttons and loops.

In another style bag the opening is made down the center front.

Covers to throw over garments in frequent use may be quickly and easily made. Material about one yard square is used. Old sheeting may be utilized. A bound button hole is made in the center for the hanger hook.

In storing Winter clothing bags made from heavy paper in lengths for coats, suits or dresses may be purchased from clothing or furnishing stores. These bags have been prepared with a tar product and so not only protect garments from dust and light, but also against moths.

WHY CERTAIN LAPLANDERS ARE RICH

By Foxy Grandpa.

FAR up into the North we traveled—way up beyond Norway, Sweden and Finland, where Nurmi, the great runner, came from.

It was Lapland where we were headed for and after a long journey, we finally reached it.

"Well, what do you think of it?" I asked.

"I love all the reindeers, Foxy Grandpa," said Bunny. "I wonder if Santa Claus gets his reindeers from up here?"

"I wouldn't be a bit surprised," I answered. "Reindeers are very important to these Lapps.

"They couldn't get around much if they didn't have them. And do you notice that they don't have bits in their mouths—but that the reins are simply fastened on their horns and that they are guided by a light tap on the side with the reins?"

"Yes, and how strong they are—these reindeer. Just think! A full-grown reindeer can pull a load of 300 pounds and carry on his back 200 pounds. But they have a very humane law in this country. Only 190 pounds are allowed on a sledge and only 130 on a reindeer's back."

"Fat men are out of luck, if they like reindeer riding, aren't they?" asked Bobby.

"Reindeer take the place of horses. Their milk is as rich as cow's milk. Their meat is delicious. And from their fur is made a very useful cloth. It is so light that if a swimmer has on a suit of it, he cannot drown. And a mat, too, made of this wool—just the size of a doormat—will hold a man up like a life preserver."

"Why don't they make sailors' suits of it?" asked Bobby.

"That has been suggested," I replied.

"Isn't it wonderful that one animal can have so many uses?" murmured Bobby.

"Yes, I answered. "Wealth is reckoned by how many reindeers a man owns up here."

"How, Foxy Grandpa?" asked Bobby.

"If a man has a thousand or more reindeer he is considered rich. If he owns several hundred he is in comfortable circumstances. But if he only owns fifty he works his herd for another man and is dependent upon him. When a child is born a lady and a gentleman reindeer are presented to it. Then, by the time the child is grown, the children and grand-children of that pair of reindeer start it off well in life."

"What about a man who only owns one rabbit?" asked Bunny slyly.

"I wouldn't exchange you for the finest herd of reindeer in all of Lapland," I answered, patting Bunny's sleek head.

MRS. JOSEPH MITTEN

Trenton, N. J.—"I think very well of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets as a family medicine. I give them to my children as a laxative or cathartic and find them excellent. They are very mild, never cause distress. The whole family uses them for constipation, liver and stomach trouble. They keep the system in perfect condition, if taken as directed. I always keep a bottle in the house for use at all times. The 'Pleasant Pellets' have saved me many doctor bills."—Mrs. Joseph Mitten, 231 Dickinson St.

At any drug store. Put up in tiny glass vials. Easy to carry.

Send 10c for trial package to Doctor Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

A FEELING OF SECURITY

You naturally feel secure when you know that the medicine you are about to take is absolutely pure and contains no harmful or habit producing drugs.

Such a medicine is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, kidney, liver and bladder medicine.

The same standard of purity, strength and excellence is maintained in every bottle of Swamp-Root.

It is scientifically compounded from vegetable herbs.

It is not a stimulant and is taken in teaspoonful doses.

It is not recommended for everything.

It is nature's great helper in relieving and overcoming kidney, liver and bladder troubles.

A sworn statement of purity is with every bottle of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

If you need a medicine, you should have the best. On sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to try this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.

FINANCE

—By B. C. FORBES—

Do these figures, especially compiled for this column, indicate that business has been doing very badly?

Last month no fewer than 63 industrials, 12 public utilities and 6 railroad corporations took cheerful dividend action by declaring extra or initial dividends, or increasing their regular rate, or paying stock dividends, or paying back dividends, or resuming distribution after a period of barrennes.

This total of 81 has only once been exceeded, last December.

For the first quarter of this year the total of improved dividend announcements has reached 214. This is an increase of 20 over the first three months of last year.

These figures reveal that those who sit on boards of directors not only have found profits expanding enough to warrant more generous disbursements to stockholders, but that at least a reasonably hopeful view is taken of the outlook, otherwish cash resources would have been husbanded.

The railroads are unusually well represented in the March records. Wabash won its place in the table by announcing the resumption of 5 per cent. dividends on its "A" stock. Jersey & Seashore increased its rate. Western Pacific declared a very substantial stock dividend for both its common and preferred holders, while Midland Valley and Carolina, Clinchfield & Ohio made their debut by paying initial dividends.

Utility corporations also make an impressive showing. New entrance in the dividend lists included Electric Bond and Share Securities Corporation, the Power Corporation of New York and the Associated Gas and Electric "A" stock.

Extra payments were announced by Pittsburg Utilities, Continental Gas, and Penn Central Light & Power. Mitten's much-discussed Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company was able to pay off 2 per cent of back dividends and Duluth Superior Traction 1 per cent. of its preferred dividend arrears.

Increased rates were announced by Mohawk Valley and by United Light and Power, while American Gas paid stock dividend of 22½ per cent.

The list of industrial enterprises taking cheerful dividend action is too long to present in full. The reader, however will be impressed by the wide variety of industries and businesses represented by the following thirty companies from the complete list of 63:

American Locomotive Co., Reo Motor Car Co., American Window Glass Machine Co., Pro-phy-lac-tic Brush Co., Island Creek Coal Co., Mountain & Gulf Corp., White Rock Mineral Springs Co. 2nd pf., Ohio Brass Co., U. S. Lumber Co., Bucyrus Co., Murray Body Corp., Remington Noiseless Typewriter Corp., pf., Shattuck Co., Canada Dry Ginger Ale, Inc., "B", Mountain Gulf Oil Co., and the Eureka Vacuum Cleaner Co.

Devoe & Reynolds Co., Inc., General Railway Signal, Co., Singer Mfg. Co., McCall Corp., first preferred, Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. of California, preferred, Seiberling Rubber Co., preferred, Butte & Superior Mining Co., Miller Rubber Co., National Cloak & Suit Co., U. S. Smelting, Refining & Mining Co., St. Croix Paper Co., Kraft-McLaren Cheese Co., Magnolia Petroleum Co., and the Sandusky Cement Co.

This dividend list is commended to the attention of those who first thought stock quotations would never cease to rise and who now have switched ot the conclusion that they will never cease to decline. Business all along has acted more rationally than stock and grain speculators have acted. Not only so, but business should do better in the second quarter than it has done in the first quarter of the year.

GOOD NEW HAVEN REPORT FOR 1924 IS ISSUED

Details of New Haven Railroad operations for 1924 have already been published, but the big carrier has just issued its pamphlet report for 1924. It shows gross earnings of $127,213,698 against $133,940,586 in 1923; net operating income of $9,787,279 against $13,277,727; and surplus after charges of $2,938,650 equal to $1.90 per share on the $157,117,900 stock against a deficit of $2,917,105 in 1923.

EDSEL FLIER WILL HAVE RIVALRY

By FRANK H. MELOON,
Financial Editor.

Edsel Ford will have rivalry if he starts to introduce his projected little flier.

Wright Aero interests, although no public announcement has been made, have for months been experimenting on an individual flying machine, I am told.

Edsel B. Ford

The idea held by the Wright Aero people, according to information reaching the writer, has been to find a first-class glider, then to equip it with a low-priced engine.

If the engine of a dependable glider broke down, the glider, of course, would glide. The occupant of the one-man glider, with the engine stopped, would be in a much more enviable position than the airplane chauffeur of today with motive power stalled.

* * *

Down at Seal Harbor, Maine, neighbors in the vicinity of Edsel Ford's new $2,000,000 Summer home. will look forward to a coming season of overhead traffic. Maybe the phrase "overhead expense," is about to take on a new significance in American life, also "flying high."

And, while pursuing this subject, perhaps some Maine man will achieve the distinction of being the world's first air traffic constable.

Established fertilizer companies continue to have their troubles.

A new synthetic fertilizer material which bids fair to upset the American market and revolutionize the fertilizer field, has just been placed on the market here by the American representative of one of the big German chemical producers, "Drug & Chemical Markets" says this week.

The new product contains twenty-six per cent. of available nitrogen, and is readily and cheaply usable by the farmer. At present, it is imported from Germany, but may be made in the United States later. This is the second synthetic chemical material to be sent here from Germany in competition with American natural products within the past two months.

WOOLEN ISSUES SELL AT LOWS FOR YEAR

Both American Woolen issues sold at new lows for the year in New York Stock Exchange trading, with the common off over 2 points to a new bottom since 1916.

Industrial stocks, which led the sharp rally at the close of Wednesday's market, retreated under heavy profit-taking. Traders crowded the market to sell at comparatively higher figures and prices sagged from 2 to 6 points in the high-priced stocks before the end of the first hour.

Another cut of 15 cents a barrel in corning crude oil hastened liquidation of oil stocks, and losses of a point or more were sustained by Independent Oil & Gas, Marland and others of the active stocks in this group.

Wilson & Co. preferred stock dropped over 7 points to 23½, a loss of over 10 points from Wednesday's high, while the common stock was down nearly 2 points; selling of the stock was due to dissatisfaction with the reorganization plan.

Mack Trucks reacted to 133½, down about 6 points from Wednesday's high. Cast Iron Pipe was down 4.

Lighter demand for call money from the brokerage houses resulted in a further decline in call money rates to 4 per cent. for renewals.

Great Northern Ore declined 5 points on declaration of a halved dividend. U. S. Cast Iron Pipe fell back 6 points, and losses of 2 to 3 pointh were recorded by Savage Arms, Baldwin, American Can, Canadian Pacific and American Express.

American Woolen preferred sold off $2 a share at 79 in Boston Stock Exchange trading. Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway adjustment stock was off a point at 42, then sold at 44.

Connor Stores added ½ at 23. Boston Edison was up ⅛ at 200¼. United Shoe tacked on ¼ at 41¾. U. S. Smelting lifted ⅛ at 35¾. Waldorf was up ¼ at 16¾. Gillette Safety Razor raised ¾ at 62¼.

FISK SAVES MILLION BY CALLING OF BONDS

The owners of the Fisk Building at 57th street and Broadway, New York City, who lease to Boston-listed Fisk Rubber Co., have caused to be called for redemption on May 1, 1925 at 102 and interest the 6 per cent. first mortgage bonds outstanding on the building, aggregating $4,120,000, and have replaced this mortgage by a $4,000,000 loan for ten years with the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. at a lower rate of interest. Taking into consideration amortization requirements of the two mortgages and the reduced rate of interest on the new loan, it is estimated that the cash saving to Fisk Rubber Co. over the ten-year period will be in excess of $1,000,000.

BAKER HOLDING IN TELEPHONE DECREASES

Large reduction in number of shares of American Telephone stock standing in the name of George F. Baker is revealed by the list of twenty largest stockholders as of March 17, 1925, filed with the Massachusets Department of Public Utilities.

Mr. Baker on that date held in his name 35,161 shares as compared with 53,306 shares on March 14, 1924, or a reduction of 18,145 shares. In the meantime American Telephone has increased its stock twenty per cent., so that if Mr. Baker had exercised his rights he would have increased his holdings from 53,306 shares to 63,967 shares.

George F. Baker, Jr., who a year ago held 11,194 shares, is this year not listed among the twenty largest. As the smallest holding among the twenty largest is 7,790 shares, this means that the interest of the younker Baker, so far as holdings credited to his name are concerned, has been reduced to a figure below 7,790 shares.

In this connection it may be significant that the number of shares standing in the name of D. Talman Waters, an assistant cashier of Mr. Baker's bank, the First National of New York, has increased from 15,600 shares a year ago to 27,692 shares this year.

Moreover, a new name among the twenty largest stockholders this year is that of Frank H. Pierson, whose address is First National Bank, New York, and who is down for 25,000 shares. In other words, instead of having sold stock it is probable that the Bakers have merely had part of their holdings put into other names.

EVERETT MILLS STOCK IS LOPPED 35 POINTS

Everett Mills stock sold at the auctions this week at a long-time low, a block changing hands at 90, off 35 points from the last prior sale. The current dividend of 2 per cent, semi-annually is the lowest rate paid since 1899. In the intervening period dividends have ranged from 6 per cent. up to 20 per cent., the latter following the war. The company produces colored cottons, chiefly ginghams, and the market for this product has been severely depressed. The financial condition of the property is reported strong.

GREAT NORTHERN ORE HALVES ITS DIVIDEND

Great Northern Ore has declared a dividend of $1. on the trustees' certificates of beneficial interest, payable April 30. On December 24, 1924, a dividend of $2 was paid.

STEEL PRICES CUTTING IS FORESEEN

Expectation is voiced in circles usually well informed that lower prices for steel products will be announced in the near future. The reports indicate that certain of the larger independents are already giving concessions to the better class of buyers.

As a result, it is stated, some of the independents are considering announcement of lower schedules of prices.

Inquiry among steel men indicates that there is some ground for such reports as it is stated certain of the independents have been taking orders at prices below what the trade is given to understand now prevail.

While the belief exists that is shading of prices does not stop it will bring general reduction, the majority of steel men poitn out that there is nothing to be gained byb such a policy.

No new business ever results from price slashing and if carried to an extent to compel the Steel Corporation to follow suit the independents would be no better off than they are now.

HIGHER PRICES SEEN FOR 1925 MAINE SARDINE PACK

Eastport, Me., April 2.—The 1924 sardine pack was less than 1,700,000 cases of oils and mustards, but not all have been sold. Conditions this Spring on Passamaquoddy Bay in the sardine business will be determined by the extent of sales from this stock through the next two weeks. However, it is expected that only a small part of the 1924 pack will be left by the time the factories open on April 15. A year ago opening prices were $12 a hogshead, but this was cut to $6 by East Coast canners later in the season. Many expect the opening price to be $10 in Canadian water this year. There are forty sardine factories along the Maine coast.

$2.43 A SHARE EARNED BY THE HARDY COAL CO.

Net income of the Boston-listed Hardy Coal Company for 1924, after interest charges but before depletion and depreciation, was $136,623, equal to $2.43 a share on the 56,063 shares outstanding. This was equal to profit of 33 cents a ton on the 410,754 net tons produced. In the final six months of 1924, 174,709 tons were mined.

CANADIAN BAKERIES FIGURE IN NEW MERGER

Northern Bakeries, Ltd., of Montreal, has acquired 6 leading Canadian baking companies operating in seven cities. Northern Bakeries, in turn, has been acquired by Continental Baking Corporation. Canadian bakers retain interest in business.

SAVINGS BA INVESTMEN BROADENING

Of numerous bills introduced present session of Legislature broaden field of savings bank inv ment most have died or been in a state of suspended animat but enough have survived the gau let of committee hearings and action of the two houses to d to keep the interest of bond deale focussed on Beacon Hill.

One bill which seems to have good chance of passage extends th list of States in whose bonds savings banks may invest to include each of the forty-eight States. The bonds of every city of over 100,000 population in the United States, subject to certain restrictions as to net debt and other details would also become legal for Massachusetts savings banks.

Another bill which needs only the Governor's signature is a bill extending the list of telephone bonds which are "legal." The present law provides that a savings bank may invest in the bonds of any telephone company a majority of whose directors are residents of Massachusetts, provided its gross earnings are $10,000,000 a year, that it has a five-year 6 per cent. dividend record, that its dividend payments for five years have equaled interest on funded debt.

The new legislation removes the restriction that a majority of the directors must be residents of Massachusetts and thus permits investment in bonds of the Illinois Bell Teelphone Co. and other major units of the Bell system. Its practical importance is diminished by the fact that it does not lift the restriction on the total amount of telephone bonds which a savings bank may hold, viz—2 per cent. of deposits. Most of the banks are already carrying all the telephone bonds that this section of the law will allow.

Of greater interest to dealers is the proposed extension of the savings bank investment field to cover railroad equipment trust issues. The bill sponsored by the Savings Banks Association has not yet reached the Governor but there is good prospects that it will become law at this session. As it now stands the bill will permit savings banks to invest in equipment trust issues of any road whose bonds are legal. Not more than 10 per cent. of the deposits of a savings bank may be invested in this class of securities.

BANK OF ENGLAND'S RESERVE IS INCREASED

Weekly statement of the Bank of England shows the following changes in pounds: Total reserve, increased 3,169,000; circulation, decreased 3,068,000; bullion, increased 100,875; other securities, increased 8,082,000; other deposits, increased 12,629,000; public deposits, increased 2,274,000; notes reserve, increased 3,171,000; government securities, increased 8,650,000.

Legal Notices Legal Notices

In compliance with the provisions as stated in Article Fourteenth of the will of the late George Robert White, viz:—

ARTICLE FOURTEENTH: Whereas my sister Mary E. Sullivan has died, and I have otherwise provided for my sister Harriet J. Bradbury, I do now carry out by immediate gift my public charitable purpose which in previous wills I (7) had provided for in remainder, and I do now give all the rest and residue of my property of every nature to the City of Boston, the same to be held as a permanent charitable trust fund to be known as the George Robert White Fund, and the net income only to be used for creating works of public utility and beauty, for the use and enjoyment of the inhabitants of the City of Boston. It is my intention that no part of said income, however, shall be used for a religious, political, educational or any purpose which it shall be the duty of the City in the ordinary course of events to provide.

The control and management of said Fund and the disbursement of the income shall be in the hands of a board of five trustees to consist of the Mayor, who shall be its chairman, the President of the City Council, the City Auditor, the President of the Chamber of Commerce and the President of the Bar Association of the City of Boston. If by reason of the abolition of any one or more of these offices or the declination or resignation of any one or more of the persons holding them for the time being a vacancy or vacancies shall occur, I direct that such vacancies shall be filled by the remaining members of the board, by the election of the persons whose respective positions and duties shall in the opinion of the board most nearly correspond therewith. As this is a public charitable gift to the City of Boston, it is my intention that the (8) City shall at all times be officially represented by a majority of the board of trustees charged with its management.

The business of the Fund shall be transacted through the regular departments of the City, viz. the Treasurer, Auditor, Corporation Counsel, etc., and a suitable office or offices for the use of the trustees shall be provided for them by the City in the City Hall or elsewhere, in which shall be kept all books and records of every nature relating to the management of the Fund properly indexed and readily accessible during business hours for the reasonable inspection of citizens, so that all who so desire may have full knowledge of the conduct of the business of the Fund. I direct that said income shall not be anticipated or pledged beyond the amount actually in hand, but it may be accumulated for any purpose within the scope of the gift, and successive accumulations may be applied to the same object. Any work or works established from the Fund may be improved, extended, enlarged or added to from time to time, but the current expense of their care and maintenance shall be borne by the City. I also direct that no part of said income shall be mingled with other funds or applied in joint undertakings; but that each work established under this gift shall be separate and distinct, and shall always bear in a conspicuous place a suitable inscription identifying (9) it as erected or established from said George Robert White Fund. If for any reason the principal of said Fund shall at any time become impaired, the income shall be allowed to accumulate until such impairment shall have been made good.

Inasmuch as I believe an enlightened public opinion to be the most effective safeguard for the preservation and maintenance of such a charitable fund and the best guide to its effective use, I direct that at least once a year the trustees shall cause to be published in most if not all of the daily newspapers of general circulation in Boston a full and comprehensive report, duly audited, and signed and sworn to by at least three of their number, setting forth the receipts, disbursements and investments of the Fund and a copy of this fourteenth article of my will establishing it.

In order to diminish the chance of hasty or unconsidered action in the expenditure of income, I believe that no substantial expenditure should be made for any purpose until it shall have been under consideration by the trustees for at least three months.

As it is probable that said Fund will consist in greater part of real estate centrally situated in the City of Boston which is reasonably sure to increase in value, I urgently recommend that such real estate be not sold for a period of at least one hundred (100) years, that leases of the same (10) shall be subject to revaluations as a basis of rentals every ten (10) years and where necessary shall provide for rebuilding by the lessees, that the real estate shall not be mortgaged, and the buildings thereon shall be kept fully insured.

If any clause or provision of the foregoing charitable gift should be found to be invalid in law, it shall not invalidate the gift as a whole but shall so far as possible be construed as an expression of my general intent.

While I think that Boston has now few, if any, superiors in beauty and in the many privileges it affords to its citizens, yet I believe it has greater possibilities for the future, and there are several public blessings among those afforded by other cities,—such as a zoological garden and handsome buildings therefor, an aquarium, a forum of substantial proportions for public gatherings, etc.—which we do not possess. It is with such things as these in mind that I have established the foregoing trust fund.

I can conceive that pressure might be brought to bear to use the income of this Fund for small and comparatively unimportant needs, which might be equally deserving and technically within the general scope of the Trust as heretofore expressed. A use of it for such purposes to any substantial extent would be contrary to my intention, which is that its income, accumulated if need be for a time long enough to make it sufficient, should (11) be used only for important civic improvements.

I suggest that printed copies, in convenient pamphlet form of this the fourteenth article of my will be kept at the office of the trustees of the Fund for free distribution to citizens of Boston.

I request that the trustees named in this article shall annually designate one of their number who shall visit and inspect my lot in Forest Hills Cemetery in the months of April and September of each year, and report to the board any neglect or failure to comply with the provisions of the contract of perpetual care, as well as Article First of this my will, in regard to the care of said lot, and it shall be the duty of said trustees to see that such neglect or lack of care be remedied without delay.

The Trustees of the George Robert White Fund herewith submit the third report of the Fund for the year—ending January 31, 1925.

TRUSTEES
GEORGE ROBERT WHITE
FUND

Then personally appeared the above named Trustees, who made oath to the foregoing statement being true to the best of their knowledge and belief.

PAUL H. KEATING, Notary Public.

Boston, March 25, 1925.

AUDITOR'S CERTIFICATE.

We have examined the foregoing account and the book entries from which it has been prepared, and hereby certify that, in our opinion, the income due has been collected and expenses paid have been duly authorized and approved; that the investments on January 31, 1925, were satisfactorily accounted for; and that principal and income are properly set forth in the above account.

LYBRAND, ROSS BROS. & MONTGOMERY.

Boston, March 24, 1925.

In the expenditure of the net income of the Fund "for creating works of public utility and beauty" the Trustees have adopted a policy of establishing health units in various sections of the city—in the hope of being able, by proper instruction, to better the living conditions and health of the communities in the congested districts.

Conferences have been held with the various health agencies and welfare workers of the city, in an endeavor to have the policy of the Trustees made beneficial and constructive and also to insure the establishment of the health units in such locations as will best serve "for the use and enjoyment of the inhabitants of the City of Boston."

In conformity therewith, the first unit has been established on North Margin Street and Baldwin Place. The building, measuring about 40 feet by 80 feet, is erected on a lot of land having an area of about 17,000 sq. ft., thus providing a health unit with accommodations and equipment fully adequate to the requirements of the people of the North End and also an open air park for use in connection therewith. On its completion—November 1, 1924—the new health unit was turned over to the Health Department of the City for its care and maintenance, in accordance with the terms of the will.

The second health unit is to be established in East Boston on the lot of land—comprising 12,990 sq. ft.—bounded by Paris and Emmons Streets and Paris Court. Plans of the new building are now in process of preparation and it is the hope of the Trustees to have the building completed during the present year.

JOHN A. DONOGHUE, President of the City Council, served as Trustee to February 2, 1925.

HOWARD COONLEY, President of the Chamber of Commerce, served as Trustee to March 4, 1925.

GEORGE E. PHELAN, Manager.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN

Buy New England goods—support New England industries—best in the world.

Lodge—The American

"Born to the purple" is a phrase used about Senator Henry Cabot Lodge. To comprehend its truth you have only to read the soul-stirring interpretation of the Massachusetts Senator's life and work which Bishop Lawrence gave yesterday to the Great and General Court.

Senator Lodge could have led an easy and sheltered life if he had wanted to. How many of his contemporaries spent their time writing or banking or practicing law! But Senator Lodge was not that kind. His passion for public service launched him on a career where his natural advantages of money and learning could the least help him. But he took off his coat and threw in his lot with the rest.

More than that, his thought—first, last and always—was for his country. In his fight for the service man, in his fight against the League and the League Court he bitterly antagonized his acquaintances at Harvard and elsewhere, as Bishop Lawrence shows.

But Lodge didn't care for the "fashionables." He cared about his people. And that takes courage.

He had been brought up in an American atmosphere, of American parents, in line with American traditions. Why should he look to Europe for guidance and support? But he was not merely a citizen by birth, he was an American by choice.

Lodge knew that since 1775 America had stood and always could stand on her own feet. He was above the colonial habit of thought. Lodge had faith in America and looked ahead, while some of his contemporaries, crippled by their colonial habit of thought, looked back and leaned on Europe.

Must America stunt her growth in European swaddling clothes or will she—like a bright star—go on her glorious course, unhampered and free?

Lodge—as the Memorial Speech shows us—heard the emphatic answer of a free American people—undeceived and unafraid. That answer is as clear and as emphatic today as when Lodge heard it—Lodge—the American—an American by choice.

Give Boston Room to Move

Put the Loop Highway Plan Into Operation

You have only to walk through "downtown" Boston today to learn at first hand the necessity for relief on a large scale from the traffic congestion that is slowly strangling the capital city of Massachusetts and the great geographical gateway to all New England.

Before the Massachusetts Legislature is pending a bill which would provide relief on a large scale in the form of a Loop Highway and Dock Square improvements.

Put this plan into operation and you will divert traffic around the downtown districts that are most crowded.

Put this plan into operation and you will connect the new highway with the streets leading to and from the most congested areas.

Put this plan into operation and you will eliminate the "tieup" that embarrasses the entire market section.

Put this plan into operation and you will reduce congestion and ease the way of traffic throughout the whole city of Boston.

All this the Boston Chamber of Commerce has the common sense, after careful study, to see and to declare. So have the Retail Board, the Boston Real Estate Exchange, the Massachusetts Real Estate Exchange, the Boston Fruit and Produce Exchange, the Team Owners' Association, the Boston Motor Truck Club and the Boston Society of Landscape Architects.

Supporting the same plan is the Special Commission on the Intermediate Thoroughfare, created by the Legislature of 1924. Who are its members?

Henry I. Harriman, chairman of the Metropolitan Planning Division; Frederick H. Fay, chairman of the Boston City Planning Board; Michael H. Sullivan, chairman of the Boston Finance Commission, and Thomas F. Sullivan, chairman of the Boston Transit Commission.

Supporting the same plan are the Boston City Planning Board and the Advisory Committee of the Mayor of Boston.

The arguments advanced in support of the Loop Highway and Dock Square improvements to which a legislative committee listened yesterday, seem to us sound, logical and most convincing.

The Boston Evening American ventures the hope that these arguments will not fall on deaf ears. The need for this plan is urgent. The way to put it into immediate operation ought to be blazed by the Legislature now in session. It is high time that the people's public servants on Beacon Hill came to the rescue of the city of Boston with the legislation necessary to enable the capital city of Massachusetts to rise to its opportunity and shoulder its obligation as the great geographical gateway to all New England and the great airport of the future for the whole Atlantic coast.

Carriers, but No Planes

The United States is about to launch a giant airplane carrier, "Saratoga," capable of carrying 72 airplanes on its broad decks.

So far, so good. Airplane carriers cost more than $40,000,000 each, and it's a comfort to know that somebody makes a good profit in the shipbuilding line.

But when will Uncle Sam have a few aircraft worth loading onto that aircraft carrier?

WHY do we, by the way, want aircraft carriers ahead or airplanes?

We are not going to send our airships anywhere to attack anybody. Why not spend the forty million dollars that one aircraft carrier costs to build airplanes, keep them here, working in the postoffice service and ready to drive off any invading planes?

The answer to such questions is that building aircraft carriers is PROFITABLE.

SIDE OF A HOUSE—
OUR BOYS ARE GOOD MARKSMEN BUT THEY ARE NOT BRINGING DOWN THE HOUSE WHILE SHOOTING AT AIR CRAFT.
SELDOM MISS

MRS. SOLOMON SAYS

By Helen Rowland

MY Daughter, be not deceived by false signs.

For lo, the world is full of maskers and dissemblers; and of "four-flushers" there is no end!

Behold, the automobile demonstrator and the bond salesman how they dress, for a foreign diplomat in all his glory is not arrayed as one of these. But the millionaire delighteth to appear in a frayed coat to lunch at the automat upon a doughnut.

The callow youth weareth a monocle and talketh cynically of love and women. Yea, he yearneth secretly to be accounted "devilish."

Helen Rowland

But the Heart-collector letteth not his right hand know whom his left hand caresseth, and every damsel thinketh herself the "ennobling influence" in his life. He is SO artless!

Go to. The "arm-hound" and the little man are full of noise and bluster and yappings and importance, but the St. Bernard and the huskymen are silent and slow to anger, but a little woman can bully them with one hand.

The model husband payeth the bills without question, but, per-adventure, forgetteth his own wedding anniversary and the morning kiss. He omitteth the flowers; for his conscience is clear.

But the husband with the going foot and the wandering eye is full of tender attentions and "thoughtfulness" and peace offerings. And other women say of him, "What a treasure!"

The devoted wife delighteth in the wicked novel; and to watch the movie villain embrace the heroine giveth her much thrill. She rejoiceth to read the divorce scandals.

But the chorus lady and the movie star boast of their "sweet home life" and delight to practice cooking. They are SO simple!

The highbrow learneth all the new dance-steps and devoteth his evenings to the crossword puzzle and the flapper. But the bromide attendeth the lecture on Psycho-analysis and presideth at the meeting of the Literary Circle.

The Vamp hideth her lipstick, and her cheeks are whiter than lilies and her frocks more simple than an ingenue's lisp.

But the Sweet Young Thing parketh her stays, and rougeth her knees, and painteth her cheeks as with house-paint.

How then shalt thou know the Real Thing from the imitation?

For, not EVERY damsel that looketh like an adventuress is a schoolgirl; neither is every woman that weareth knee-length skirts and bobbeth her hair, a grandmother!

Yet, since Adam first sought to impersonate "Injured Innocence" every sheep hath delighted to wear wolf's clothing, and every wolf hath sought to pose as a lamb. And masquerading hath been man's favorite pastime—and woman's whole existence!

THE HELPING HAND

Letters Not Answered Personally. No Attention Paid to Telephone Calls or Anonymous Letters. No Names Published.

The editor asks that the kind readers refrain from sending bundles to her. Upon request, she will gladly furnish name to whom these may be sent direct. This will avoid unnecessary delay.

With 10 Children

Helping Hand Editor:

I wonder if some kind reader could supply me with some overalls, oil coat, rubber boots or rain hat size 7½, or any heavy workshoes for hard outdoor work. After many weeks of idleness and with ten children, I am at a loss to know how I can get these things, as I have obtained a little work repairing roads, etc. J. J. G.

Needs Clothes

Helping Hand Editor:

I have just been released from an institution in this State and would appreciate a suit, 42 coat, 34 waist, 30 leg, shoes 8 or 8½, shirts 15 or 15½. I learned to play a saxaphone while there, but am unable to get work as I have no instrument. FRED.

Others In Need

Mrs. M. T., grandmother of four motherless children, girls, 5, 4 and 3 and a baby 1-year-old, writes they need clothing and shoes badly.

Mrs. L. S., 70 years old depending upon friends for a home, asks for clothing size 36 or 38, shoes 4.

Mrs. Grace L., about to have a visit from the stork, would appreciate some baby clothes and a bedspread. Husband has only worked two days in five weeks.

Mrs. M. B., would be grateful for Spring coat and dresses for girl, size 10, also shoes 13, some dresses for herself, 40 or 42, suit for husband, size 36, and shoes 5½, shirts 14½. Boy 3 and baby 8 months also need clothing and shoes.

Mrs. M. B. I. appeals for a large ice chest to keep baby's milk cold.

Mrs. Joseph P., mother of six children, one girl 6 and five boys, 12, 10, 8, 5 and 6 months old, writes they need clothing badly and for herself, size 42. If someone had a stroller to give away, it would help her out so much.

Mrs. T. F. M., asks for Summer underwear for boys 7 and 4, shoes 11½ and 9 and for girls 9 to 2 shoes 10½ to 3. Spring coat for herself, size 40, shoes 4, man's suit, size 38, shoes 7 of 7½. Can make over anything.

Mrs. L. P., mother of nine children, asks if some kind reader has a small table and bureau for a bedroom. Cannot afford to buy them as husband only makes enough for food.

Mrs. J. S. C. asks that some kind readers help her with food until they get on their feet. Husband just getting to work after many months of idleness. Pay very small as he is not very strong. They don't get enough to eat as they owe so many bills and go to bed hungry most of the time. She also has a sick mother and two boys.

Mrs. B. L., sick more than a year and bills to pay, would appreciate a Spring coat so she can get out of doors.

Annette, age 8, motherless and father out of work, appeals for clothing for herself and two sisters 5 and 7.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

WHY should I look to the hidden tomorrow, turning in grief from today's hopes that fail? What though the pitiless phantoms of sorrow still man pursue till the red stars grow pale? Near me I hear the glad Oriole singing and gleams the sun on the ripening grain; sweet is the message the breezes are bringing, sweet is the murmurous river's refrain. Let me forget the bright promises calling, luring me far from the fields of content, let me lie down when the pale starlight's falling, close to earth's arms till my longing is spent. Teach me that not in time's distant embraces lingers the peace that I long to regain; but that it waits in the old, once-loved places, peace that knows nothing of shadow or wane.

EX-MUSICIAN MAKES CONFESSION

By DR. FRANK CRANE

I AM an ex-musician.

That is, when I was a young man of twenty-one I was actively engaged in the study of music. I not only played the piano, but I had a class of music pupils whom I conducted through the devious avenues of art.

I suppose I was a bum teacher and a poor player, but I got a good deal of fun out of it.

I never took but one lesson in my life. I did not like that lesson and quit my teacher after one sample of her work. I do not say this as an excuse, but merely state it as a fact. Doubtless I would have done better to have remained under her tutelage. But I did not.

I went at the study of music in my own peculiar way. I bought Schubert's Moments Musicaux, Beethoven's Sonatas, Chopin's Waltzes, Mendelssohn's Songs Without Words and other pieces.

I found these difficult, but very intriguing. I pounded them all out myself on the piano. I took them apart and studied every combination of notes and learned every motif.

Afterwards I took up the Wagner operas in this way. I bought all the books I could that told about Wagner and his music. I read them in French, in German and in English. I set about to learn all the motifs of his pieces.

I don't suppose I was ever a good musician, that is, that I ever had the scientific skill to perform. But I had the love of it and I had many a pure hour of enjoyment in following it.

I would not take anything now for the memory of that solid enjoyment. If I had had some teacher with imagination to envisage my difficulties and help me out of them I would have made much faster progress. As it was I had to get through myself.

With the consequence of the crowding in of many affairs my music was dropped and for years my life was devoid of it. There was always a piano in the house, but nobody played on it.

I loved music so well that I would rather do without it than hear it badly played.

Then came the automatic piano, by which the works of the best masters could be interpreted for me by skilled artists just the way they would have done it themselves.

I cannot tell you what a pleasure it was to put on these rolls and hear those pieces that I had labored over in my youth done expertly.

If I had only had this when I was studying, how many a difficult problem would have been solved before my eye, or rather my ear. I had spent days in wondering what certain musical notes meant and it could all have been explained to me in a moment by the touch of the artist.

Not the least among the advantages enjoyed by the music student of today is that of hearing any composition played correctly with absolute accuracy by this instrument. It can only improve the taste and clear the way for progress in the case of the young pupil.

Of course there may be some who will be content merely to listen, but for those eager souls that are anxious also to improve their own art it will be a godsend.

ARE WE SPENDING OUR "BONUS"?

By Garrett P. Serviss.

Noted Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest.

"We are in the midst of a great experience; spending a bonus which the race overlooked for half a million years, and which cannot last a thousand."—Prof. N. M. Fenneman to the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

THIS sounds pessimistic. Taken in small and proper doses, however, pessimism is like strychnine—it may act as a tonic, instead of as a deadly poison.

The "bonus" that Professor Fenneman speaks of is the world's supply of such things as coal and metals. These are considered as "limited accumulations, not replenished by nature at an appreciable rate." Consequently, "when gone they are gone forever."

Accepting his estimates of the extent of the available supply now remaining of these bonus resources, which nature gives to man, but which are like bank accounts opened for a fixed sum, subject to withdrawal by check, but never added to, let us look at two or three of Professor Fenneman's predictions.

"Perhaps," says he, "the most spectacular bonus ever given to the human race was natural gas and liquid oil. The equivalent in labor would have been beyond competition. The complete expenditure of America's share of this bonus is so close as to be sensational. The rest will follow in a few years; then comes the painful effort to get the same value from oil shales, in which the bonus element is smaller and labor element is larger."

This shows without explanation what is meant by the "labor equivalent" of a natural bonus. If nature doesn't support him as his unfortunate ancestor is said to have been supported in the Garden of Eden, then man must follow Adam's forced example and maintain himself by his labor. That story in Genesis, by the way, is worth more than thousands of volumes on economic theory.

Next Professor Fenneman remarks that half of nature's bonuses are very temporary, and most of the rest are limited in amount and constantly being divided up among more and more people.

"It is not to be supposed," admits Professor Fenneman, "that all the great iron ore deposits of the world are known, but," he adds, "even making fair allowance for new discoveries, as well as for increased usage, it would take a brave statistician to promise more than a century of iron at prices which would belong in the present class."

"Probably," continues Professor Fenneman, "no one questions these obvious assertions except to waive them in favor of those uncertain scientific discoveries with regard to which the public is so confident and scientific men so cautious."

However, are they always so very cautious? Do none of them ever scold the public for having taken them at their word—especially when the word was spoken hastily, or thrown out with technical strings attached? It is sometimes very convenient to talk in jargon, but jargon outside its circles of adepts may be more misleading than informing.

But, brethren and fellow laborers, let us still be cheerful. The morning skies seem to contain no clouds of human slavery, so let us rather believe that we are moving from the age of bonuses to the age of independence.

IT TAKES MORE THAN POPULARITY TO GAIN SUCCESS

Are you too easy to get acquainted with?

Light, airy, agreeable and companionable, you strive to be popular.

Yet sometimes you wonder why it is that men in your lodges and in your clubs are chosen for important places while your name is never proposed.

It has been your idea that popularity was what you needed to bring signal honors from your chosen organizations.

But this is not it.

It is on account of a peculiar fitness for office which brings honor to men who are appointed or elected to certain positions.

On a reception committee you might shine because of the traits you have cultivated and pushed forward.

But as a manager, financier, or organization head, you have not shown the proper qualifications.

You have been too guarded about making enemies to take any definite stand if you think it might be displeasing to some with whom you mingle.

If you want popularity you may get it, and nothing more, if mere popularity is all there is to recommend you.
